Restoring Dignity Through Transformed Lives

Human trafficking is a phrase heard in many social justice circles today. In Western culture, trafficking is often associated with brothels and forced prostitution, but trafficking doesn't stop there. Exploitation occurs any time one person's will is oppressed and controlled for the benefit of someone else. Domestic labor, begging rings, child labor, forced marriage, debt bondage, and organ harvesting are just a few others. There are many ways that people can be exploited. No story is exactly the same as another's, though the fruit of trafficking is often identical: brokenness, hopelessness, low self-worth, shame, deep wounding and life-quenching despair.

Sak Saum exists to offer rescue, rehabilitation and restoration to the vulnerable and exploited in Cambodia. Our desire is to end trafficking's devastating cycle of abuse by restoring dignity and transforming lives. The Sak Saum Fall/Winter 2014-2015 Collection is the tangible representation of lives being changed every single day. These handbags, totes, accessories and more are as unique and beautiful as the men and women who made them.

Sak Saum's Vision

In Cambodia, young men and women are often exploited by their own poverty-stricken families. Without intervention, love, and training, they go on to repeat the same cycles with their own children. Our vision is to see these lives changed – set free into a life of hope, understanding, purpose, love and joy. We want them to be confident in God's love for them and passionate about His love for others.

Our desire is the multiplication of this vision in the hearts of the Cambodian people. We believe that changed people change nations, and that love is the key to that change. We believe that empowerment is what will create a ripple effect of lasting change - one person, one family, one community at a time.

Sak Saum

Our Programs At A Glance

So how does restoration happen? We believe lasting change must be holistic - physical, mental, social, emotional, and spiritual. We accomplish this through a variety of avenues:

- Vocational Training in Sewing, Metal and Wood Working, and Jewelry Crafting
- Discipleship - Regular Bible Study and Voluntary Church Involvement
- Education - English and Khmer Literacy Classes
- Counseling – Individual and Group
- Leadership and Life Skills Training
- Brother's House - a restorative, holistic program reaching out to young men coming out of drug addiction, gang involvement, exploitation and prison.

Each person receives fair trade salaries, food, and transportation, healthcare or housing assistance as needed. Through God's love, we are seeing people set free and restored!

How Can You Help?

Supporting Sak Saum through the purchase of our products is a great start! We also have other ways for you to intercede on behalf of the exploited. You can be a voice that helps release trafficked people from shame and despair into a life of dignity, healing and purpose. # Background

Started by Ginny Hanson in 2007, Sak Saum operates in Phnom Penh and the Saang district of Cambodia. While working with In His Steps International, the ministry she and her husband founded in 2003, Ginny met Theavy Kang, a woman who was abandoned by her husband and left with few skills and virtually no way to support herself except through exploitative means.

Theavy was Sak Saum's inspiration and first sponsored woman. Today she serves as national director. Theavy's life is an example of the transformation and growth that we are working towards with everyone who becomes a part of Sak Saum's program.

In addition to the young men and women who are a part of our program, we also believe in the power of community development through job creation, anti-trafficking education, benevolent giving and much more. We often employ Cambodia's poorest of the poor, giving them skill training and an opportunity for a better future. Sak Saum also supports small micro-enterprise projects whose products we purchase to incorporate into our products (some jewelry and accessory items).
