

172' HISTORIC SHIP AVAILABLE FOR PHOTO, FILM, TV SHOOTS

The tanker MARY A. WHALEN is an atmospheric, nautical location. She is the last of her kind in the USA, built in 1938, and undergoing restoration.

Location fees benefit the non-profit organization PortSide NewYork based on the ship.

- Great variety of exterior and interior shooting spaces
- Uncluttered 90' main deck. Additional fore and aft decks.
- Several interior spaces with removable skylights allowing lighting or camera booms to work from outside the space.
- Roomy captain's cabin has portholes accessible on all 4 sides for similarly easy lighting and shooting.
- Large wheelhouse with shooting access on 3 sides.
- Fantastic kitchen is a half circle 31 ½ feet wide.
- Gritty engine room.
- Ship is 172 feet long, 31 ½ feet wide.

Our location, in shot below, is here in Red Hook, Brooklyn, next to the Brooklyn Cruise Terminal and Pioneer Works. Ship can be moved for shoots.

Location fees support programs like these:

PortSide NewYork is a living lab for better urban waterways. PortSide brings water stories to life. We show how to combine the working waterfront, public access and community development. Our education, culture, job training and neighborhood promotion programs - all on a water theme - bring the communities ashore and afloat together, for the benefit of all.

Our home, the ship MARY A. WHALEN, is the last of her kind in the USA and the only oil tanker in the world repurposed for public service. PortSide runs programs on and off the ship, in parks, industrial settings, schools, street fairs and more.

In 2013, PortSide won a White House award for our Sandy recovery work and was honored by the New York State Senate for same. See a short video of our programs at <http://bit.ly/getPSNY>.
