

CALF DEBUDDING SERVICE

We offer a gold standard calf debudding service using both sedation and local anaesthetic to minimise calf discomfort and reduce liveweight losses due to stress. While sedated, it provides a great opportunity to check the calf for extra teats, give a 10 in 1 vaccination and NAIT ear tagging.

FEE $5.90 excl. GST (this includes the price of the anaesthetic)

* plus travelling cost

* a surcharge applies if fewer than 25 calves are debudded.

Dog Worming Programme

The Veterinary Centre runs a programme designed to keep your dogs free of internal parasites. While many clients take advantage of this, there are still many dogs not on a regular worming programme.

For the cost of the tablets, we will post to you each month, sufficient worm tablets to protect your dog from T. ovis (sheep measles tape worm). You will still need to be vigilant with ALL dogs coming onto your property, as they pose a risk to your C. ovis status.

Canine Parvo-Virus

We have been dealing with a spike in the number of new cases of Parvo-Virus in puppies. This is persistent in the environment, and continues to emerge. Make sure young puppies are fully vaccinated. The vaccines are very effective.

Animal Welfare

"If you look after your stock, your stock will look after you"

At all times avoid unnecessary pain in animals. Be aware of the humane aspects of lameness in sheep and cattle, as well as excessive weight loss, and specific lesions such as cancer eye in cattle. Make decisions to humanely destroy animals early, as soon as it is obvious recovery will not occur. Call for veterinary advice at any time - we are always available.

Don't make decisions because you are "scared" of the animal welfare lobby. Make decisions because it is the right thing to do for the animal in question!!

All prices and promotions in this issue valid until the end of the month or while stocks last.

TREATMENT OF HYPOTHERMIA IN LAMBS

Many lambs born in cold weather which become weak and hypothermic can be saved. A simple check for hypothermia in the newborn lamb is to feel the tongue - if it is cold, the lamb's body temperature is falling.

1. Rub the lamb dry before warming it - evaporation causes further heat loss.
2. The heat-box temperature should be 37°C. Don't exceed this.
3. If the lamb is less than 6 hours old, give some form of colostrum - use Jump Start Colostrum Powder, alternatively you can use fresh or frozen cow or sheep colostrum.
4. If the lamb is more than 6 hours old, and can't hold its head up, inject glucose into the peritoneum. Call at your Blue Cross Veterinary Centre to pick up instructions for this procedure - it is very cheap and effective.

DOWNER COWS

At this time of the year we are often called too late for effective treatment of "downer" cows or calving cows. Normal calving may take several hours NOT several days!! If a cow is down, her prognosis is directly dependent on how long she has been down. Call for veterinary assistance before it is too late.

MAGNESIUM DEFICIENCY IN COWS

Most cows go into deficit before or after calving, depending on the season and state of nutrition. Magnesium deficiency in beef cows is the cause of "stagers" or Hypomagnesaemic Tetany. This is often fatal. It is well worth supplementing with magnesium oxide powder on hay, silage or grass to prevent this. Magnesium Boluses are also available. Rumbul - for 30 days supplementary magnesium. Rumetrace - for 120 days supplementary magnesium
