The three most popular year-round training academies will join force to create the inaugural Elite Offense Soccer Camp. The camp will highlight the technical repetition that makes each Academy famous and will combine the knowledge and expertise to create a curriculum second to none and get the most out of the forward thinking soccer player and goalkeeper. Come join the pros and elevate your game to that next level.

Skill Skool Soccer has been providing individualized soccer training for over 15 years. From the recreational player, to the professional player Skill Skool founder Matt Blackbourne has developed a curriculum that has provided the necessary repetition for players to raise their game to the next level. Matt's drills focus on individual offensive skill-sets that challenge the player to work on parts of their game which get neglected in the team environment. Using technology and innovative training products Skill Skool Soccer has been the place to go for all players wishing to realize their potential.

Two time Hermann Award winner and former IU, USMNT standout Ken Snow, has been providing the expertise in shooting technique to soccer players all around the Midwest. His philosophy of learning, practicing and repeating a technically correct shot over and over again. Increasing the power and accuracy of the shot to raise the the players' game.

Ken's use of constant repetition ensures the kids are taking 1000 shots on goal a week. When your goal is 'IN' their goal. There is no other camp like the Ken Snow Shooting and Goal Scoring Camp.

The purpose of IGA is to provide year-round training opportunities to goalkeepers of all levels in an effort to create an optimal environment which fosters individual development. IGA's training programs allow for the technical, tactical, physical, and psychological qualities of the goalkeeper to be enhanced and refined through specialized, challenging, and age appropriate training. IGA director Gary Yohe works to develop hundreds of goalkeepers each year, from recreational to collegiate athletes. The IGA staff is committed to helping committed players realize their potential and reach their desired level of performance.
