1 / SHELF LIFE

Brooklyn-based furniture designer Asher Israelow collaborated with Hart Made, his wife Jamie's textile firm, on his Interval bookcase with seating. The piece, shown in black walnut and brass, measures 63" w. x 14" d. x 71" h. and costs $12,500; it can be customized in other sizes and materials. 914-416-9925; asherisraelow.com

2 / TRUE TO FORM

Danish firm GamFratesi wittily named its geometric Platonism rug, for Christopher Farr, after the philosophy that describes a realm where abstract objects exist. Made of hand-spun Afghan wool, it measures 6' x 8.5' and costs $6,000. 310-967-0064; christopherfarr.com

3 / WINNING STREAKS

Prouna conjures the evocative ribbons of color found in Renaissance sculptures for its Marble plates, made of bone china with accents of 24-karat gold. A set of four 6" dia. plates contains one of each color—from top, Azure, Chianti, Verde, and Venice Fog—and costs $95. 800-777-0000; bloomingdales.com

4 / MIRROR IMAGE

For the Double Cove mirror, part of her collection for Carvers' Guild, Carol Canner looked to the curves of the coastline. The hand-cast resin frame is outlined in gilt. A 40" w. x 52" h. version, shown, is $2,800; other sizes are available. 561-514-0322; hivepalmbeach.com

5 / WHOLE NEW GAME

Decorator Lilly Bunn partnered with Board by Design on the Bling Pong Table, a customizable Ping-Pong table. With the leather net removed, it can serve as a dining table. Shown in walnut with copper-plated hardware, it measures 9' l. x 5' w. and costs $12,000. boardbydesign.com
