Star Wars Party Invitation Ideas

Calling all Rebels and Storm Troopers! There's an important mission ahead – to make sure your birthday boy has an unforgettable Star Wars birthday party! Our Star Wars party invitation ideas make it easy to transmit a message through space to all your friends – and when the adventure is over, to thank them for making the trek across the galaxy!

Add confetti and stickers for an out-of-this-galaxy invitation

It takes light-years to send a message through space, but your Star Wars Invitations will be ready in warp speed! Just write in the party details and add a Star Wars phrase like: "Invited you are. Celebrate Nick's 7th birthday, will you?" Sprinkle a little Star Wars Confetti inside the envelope for some extra intergalactic fun. The invitation becomes an official correspondence from Lord Vader once you seal it with a Star Wars Sticker on the envelope.

Send secret tattoo passes with your invitations

Sometimes it's not so easy to tell a Rebel from a Sith. Know what side your party guests are on by sending them Star Wars Tattoos inside your Star Wars Invitations. Tell Rebels to wear their tattoos on their right arm and Siths on the left as a secret party pass. For a final Jedi touch, fill the envelopes with Confetti and seal them with a Sticker.

Attach a special favor to hand-delivered invites

If you're hand-delivering your Star Wars Invitations, here's a great way to give your party guests a hint at the fun that's in store. Punch a hole in the corner of the envelope and attach a Star Wars Force Ring with Red Curling Ribbon.
