Groups

- Kawartha Camera Club has a Flickr group just for members.
- Only members can add photos and participate in discussions, but it is visible to the whole world.

The screenshot shows the Flickr group page for the Kawartha Camera Club. The header includes the Flickr logo and navigation links: You, People, Groups, Explore, Create, Upload. A pink banner at the top states: "You are viewing the beta version of our new groups experience. Click here to return to the old version." The group name "Kawartha Camera Club" is prominently displayed with a "Joined" button. Statistics show 1,032 Photos, 34 Members, and the group was created on Sep 19, 2012. Navigation tabs include Overview, Administration, Discussions, Photos, Members, Map, and Invite Friends. The main content area features a "Photo pool" with an "Add photo" button and a grid of 10 nature-themed photographs. Below the photo pool is a "Discussions" section with a "Start a discussion" button and a search bar. A table lists recent discussions, and the bottom of the page shows the start of a "Top Contributors" section.

Group Discussions

- Group discussions are a great way to interact with members of the same group.
- Every group usually has on-going discussions.
- Can also start you own discussion.

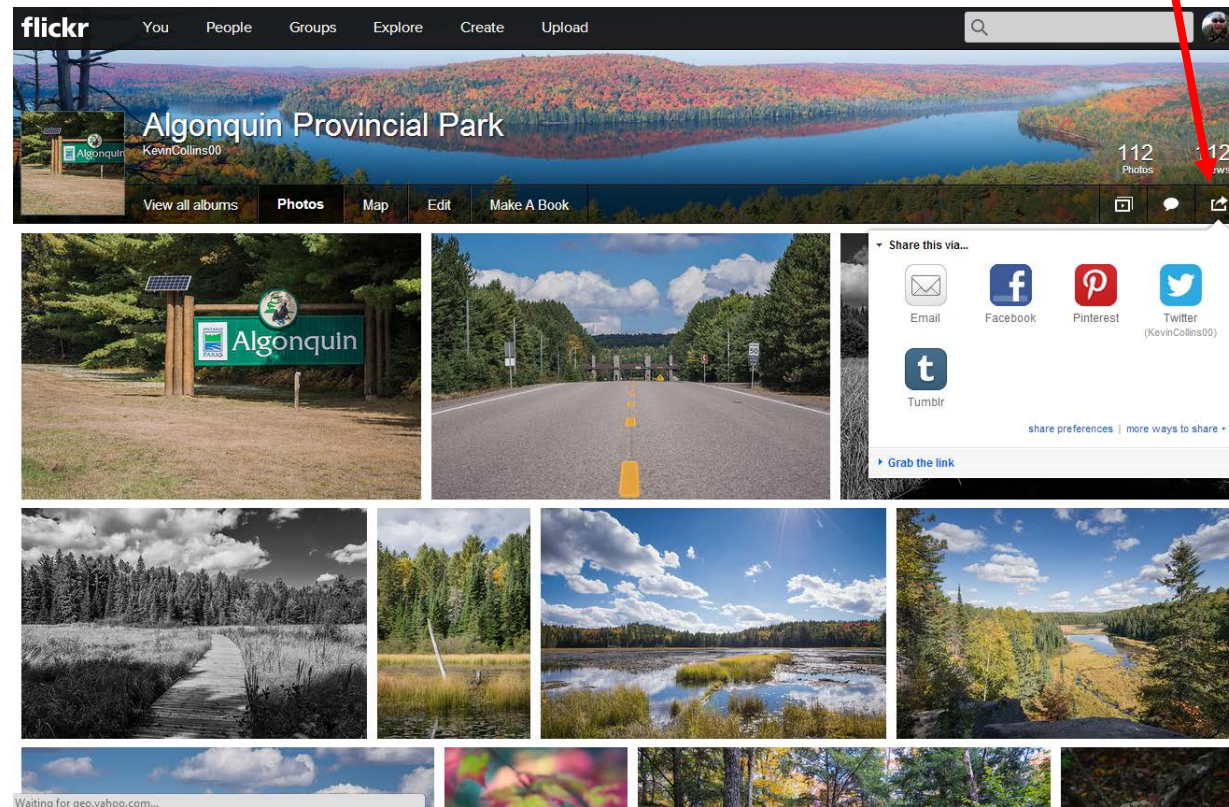

Sharing Photos

- You can share an individual photo directly to Facebook, Twitter, Email, or copy and paste a link.
- The email option uses your Yahoo account associated with Flickr.

Sharing Albums

- You can also share an entire album by sending the link to social media or through email.
- This is a good feature for club members who want to share photos from an event or outing.
