

DMITRY BAEVSKY

OVER and OUT

DMITRY BAEVSKY alto saxophone | DAVID WONG bass | JOE STRASSER drums

CD RELEASE FEBRUARY 2015

You can hear it loud and clear in his music: Dmitry Baevsky is here!

The Russian born alto saxophonist has made quite a name for himself since immigrating to New York from his St. Petersburg birthplace nearly twenty years ago. Now a charter member of the world jazz community, Baevsky has proven himself to be a formidable force to be reckoned with, confirming his prodigious abilities in countless appearances with some of the music's greatest artists. From his very first recording with NEA Jazz Masters Cedar Walton and Jimmy Cobb the altoist has shown himself to be an important new voice on his instrument. Possessing a robust sound, acute harmonic mind and keen sense of rhythm, the young horn man puts it all together in a manner that is appealing in its lyricism, yet intriguing in its originality.

Dmitry Baevsky's new album "Over and Out" contains a sublime and lively energy. For his first recording in a trio format, the New York saxophonist is accompanied by two musicians who have been playing with him for several years now: the bassist David Wong (member of Roy Haynes' Fountain of Youth band, Benny Green Trio, Jimmy Heath's quartet...) and the drummer Joe Strasser (heard with Sam Yahel, Kyle Eastwood, Eric Alexander...). Through these twelve tracks full of lyricism and a fiery inspiration, from Monk to Jobim, from Duke to Cedar Walton or his own compositions, Dmitry proves once again that he is one of the most exciting saxophonists on the jazz scene nowadays.
