

ACYD

AUSTRALIA-CHINA YOUTH DIALOGUE

澳中青年对话

AUSTRALIA-CHINA YOUTH DIALOGUE 2013
ACYD 2013 REPORT

CANBERRA 24-27 September • MELBOURNE 28-29 September

Contents

- 1 Welcome Message
- 2 The ACYD
- 3 Schedule
- 4 Australian Delegate Profiles
- 5 Chinese Delegate Profiles
- 6 ACYD 2013 Partners
- 7 ACYD Team Profiles
- 8 Social Media
- 9 Post ACYD Deliverables
- 10 Alumni Association

Welcome Message

Dear Delegates,

Congratulations on being selected as one of only 30 delegates that will join the 2013 Australia-China Youth Dialogue (ACYD): the pre-eminent Australia-China early career leaders forum. The ACYD team searched for you in Australia, China, and across the globe. We selected you from an intensely competitive field of candidates. You represent a rich array of backgrounds: startup entrepreneurs; hedge fund analysts; graduate school candidates at leading international universities; high-level political advisors; corporate finance advisors; international legal counsel; fashion experts; earth scientists; and researchers engaged in cutting edge humanities investigations to name but a few of your fellow delegates' eclectic career experiences.

You will join the ranks of another 90 outstanding ACYD delegate alumni who have, or are moving into, positions of influence and leadership across the spectrum of the Australia-China dynamic. We believe that the depth, breadth, and growing scale of the ACYD alumni network – past delegates and ACYD team members – presents a fellowship of unparalleled access. That is, access to networks and peer support between high-performing, upwardly mobile Australians and Chinese drawn from a range of sectors shaping the future of the Australia-China connection. Our alumni are united by a common bond of public service and dedication to promoting an inclusive, peaceful, and mutually-beneficial bilateral relationship.

Your ACYD team is extremely proud of the work we carry out. We are entirely unpaid. All of the funds our generous Major and Associate Partners donate to the ACYD is deployed as working capital to execute the ACYD. For the ACYD team, the return on investment for hundreds of accumulated hours of work is bringing together a world-class concentration of delegates and speakers to explore, in an intimate yet powerful setting, the nuances and intricacies of the state of the bilateral relationship. We continue our work with the ACYD in the knowledge that the meaningful people-to-people linkages formed between delegates, organisers, and speakers will produce tangible long-term public interest deliverables to the Australia-China relationship.

A heartfelt congratulations on behalf of the ACYD team to the 2013 delegates.

Warmest wishes,

Fiona Lawrie
Executive Director, The Australia-China Youth Dialogue

Henry Makeham
Founder and Chair, The Australia-China Youth Dialogue

The ACYD

In 2009, Dr. Stephen Fitzgerald (Australia's first ambassador to the People's Republic of China, 1973-76) highlighted the absence of – and a need for – more institutionalised dialogue between Australia and China through both governmental and non-governmental organisations. In 2012, the Hon. Julia Gillard MP, Prime Minister of Australia, stated that "In the Asian century, business as usual is not enough".

ACYD was founded to address these concerns, and promote frequent and meaningful engagement and more sophisticated cross-cultural understanding among Australian and Chinese youth. Since 2010, ACYD has brought young leaders from Australia and China together with key experts and decision makers to discuss key aspects of the bilateral relationship.

Speakers at ACYD have included HE Ms Frances Adamson, Australian Ambassador to the People's Republic of China, Justin Yifu Lin, former Chief Economist and Senior Vice President of the World Bank, and the Hon. Bob Hawke AC, former Prime Minister of Australia.

We are honoured to have a number of eminent people address this year's ACYD. They include The Honourable Quentin Bryce AC, the Governor General to Australia, Professor the Honourable Gareth Evans QC, Former Australian Foreign Minister, Sid Myer AM, Chairman of Asialink, Josh Frydenberg MP and Andrew Leigh MP.

ACYD seeks to enhance Sino-Australian relations by forging lasting connections that will benefit both countries in the future. The main objectives of the ACYD are to:

- Facilitate an understanding of Chinese and Australian culture and society;
- Encourage talented youth to take an active interest in Australia-China relations;
- Bring together Australian and Chinese youth from different sectors to create long-term, mutually beneficial relationships; and
- Encourage youth to seek employment opportunities in future business, research, NGO and/or diplomatic roles between Australia and China.

With the respected former Australian diplomat Richard Woolcott AC recently describing the ACYD as "probably more important than the Australian American Leadership Dialogue," it is safe to say that the ACYD is well on the way to achieving these aims.

Schedule

Day 1, Tues. 24th

12.00 – 14.30	CHECK IN AT PAVILION HOTEL CANBERRA
15.00 – 17.00	WELCOME DRINKS, PAVILION HOTEL
18:00	BUS DEPARTS PAVILION HOTEL
18.30 – 19.30 MC: Fiona Lawrie	FORMAL WELCOME, Government House Quentin Bryce – Governor General of Australia
20.00 – 22:00	WELCOME DINNER
After Hours	Suggested venue: KTV

Schedule

Day 2, Wed. 25th

08.30	BUS DEPARTS PAVILION HOTEL
09.00 – 09.30 Chair: Henry Makeham	WELCOME AND INTRODUCTION, Australian National University (ANU) Henry Makeham – Founder, Australia-China Youth Dialogue Gillian Bird – Acting Secretary, Australian Department of Foreign Affairs and Trade
09.30 – 10.30 Chair: Shenghao Feng	SESSION 1 – CLIMATE CHANGE AND ENERGY, ANU Janette Lindesay – Associate Professor, Climate Change Institute, ANU Kenneth Baldwin – Deputy Director, Research School of Physics and Engineering; and Director, ANU Energy Change Institute Alex Wyatt – Founder and CEO, Climate Bridge
10.45 - 12.00 Chair: Shenghao Feng	SESSION 2 – A GLOBAL SOLUTION, ANU Stephen Howes – Director, Development Policy Centre Director, International and Development Economics Professor of Economics, Crawford School Of Public Policy, ANU Ian Fry – International Environmental Law and Policy Expert, Fenner School Of Environment And Society, ANU
12.15 - 13.30	LUNCH, Red Chilli Sichuan
14.00 – 16.30 Chair: Joel Wing-Lun	SESSION 3 – GOVERNANCE, Parliament House Dr Andrew Leigh MP – Federal Member for Kooyong Josh Frydenberg MP – Federal Member for Fraser -Tour of Parliament House
16.45 – 17.30	BREAK
17:45	BUS DEPARTS PAVILION HOTEL
18.00 – 22.00 Chair: Joel Wing-Lun	ACYD-USY DINNER, Old Parliament House KEYNOTE: Professor Kerry Brown - Executive Director, China Studies Centre, University Of Sydney
After Hours	Suggested venue: Wig and Pen

Schedule

Day 3, Thurs. 26th

08.30	BUS DEPARTS PAVILION HOTEL
09.00 – 09.45 Chair: Neil Thomas	SESSION 1 – AUSTRALIA CHINA BUSINESS, ANU Ms Jiangmin Qian – Principal, Jing Meridian Mr Laurie Smith – Executive Director of International Operations, Austrade Mr Colin Heseltine – Director, Sino Gas & Energy Holdings; ex-APEC Secretariat Head Mr Michael Bleby – Journalist, BRW Magazine Dr Peter Drysdale – Emeritus Professor, ANU Crawford School of Public Policy
12.00 – 13.30 Chair: Neil Thomas	LUNCH, Flavours of India KEY NOTE: Kevin Hobgood-Brown – Managing Director, Riverstone Advisory; Deputy Chair, Australia-China Council
14.00 – 17.30 Chair: Jakob Mayer	SESSION 2 – CRISIS SIMULATION ANU Paul Dibb – Emeritus Professor of Strategic Studies; and Chairman, ANU Strategic and Defence Studies Centre Dr You Ji – Associate Professor, UNSW School of Social Sciences and International Studies Michael Wesley – Professor of National Security, Australian National University Michael Shoebridge – First Assistant Secretary Strategic Policy, Department of Defence Dr Amy King – Lecturer, ANU Strategic and Defence Studies Centre
17.30 -18.30	BREAK
18:30	BUS DEPARTS PAVILION HOTEL
19.00 – 22.00	HUAWEI DINNER, The Boat House KEYNOTE: Dennis Richardson AO, Secretary of Defence, The Australian Department of Defence
After Hours	Suggested venue: Shorty's

Schedule

Day 4, Fri 27th

08.00	CHECK OUT OF HOTEL
08.30	BUS DEPARTS PAVILION HOTEL FOR ANU
09.00 - 11.00 Chair: Natalie Cope	SESSION 1 – AUSTRALIA AND CHINA: SPORTING NATIONS, Australian Institute of Sport Patrick Skeene – Red Elephant Projects Matt Weston Andrew Logan – Deputy Director, Australian Institute of Sport
13:00 – 14:00	FLIGHT TO MELBOURNE VA268
15.30 – 16.45 Chair: Natalie Cope	SESSION 2 - MEDIA IN THE AUSTRALIA CHINA DYNAMIC, Australian Broadcasting Corporation
17.30 – 19.30 Chair: Fiona Lawrie	VICTORIAN GOVERNMENT RECEPTION DINNER, Victorian Investment Centre KEYNOTE: Sid Myer AO - Chairman, Asialink
After Hours	Suggested venue: Strange Wolf

Schedule

Day 5, Sat. 28th

08:45	DEPART RYDGES HOTEL FOR ASIALINK
09.00 – 10.00 Chair: Natalie Cope	SESSION 1 – CULTURAL EXCHANGE, Asialink Jenny Mcgregor – Chief Executive Officer, Asialink Professor Honourable Gareth Evans, QC – Chancellor Australian National University
10.00 – 12.00 Chair: Tim Coghlan	SESSION 2 – CREATIVE INDUSTRIES, Asialink Graeme Leysey – Chief Executive Officer L'oreal Melbourne Fashion Festival Paul Lacy – Founder and Chief Executive Officer, Kikki-K Michelle Guo – Hassell Studio
13.00 – 16.00 Chair: Phil Kingston	SESSION 3 - AFL GRAND FINAL, Henley Club Jamie Pi – AFL Chinese Community Ambassador
16.00 - 18.30	BREAK
19:00 – 21:30 Chair: Henry Makeham	DINNER KEYNOTE: John Denton, Corrs Partner and CEO KEYNOTE: Professor David Walker, BHP Billiton Chair Of Australian Studies, Peking University
After Hours	Suggested venue: Golden Monkey

3 Australian Great Outdoors

Schedule

Day 6, Sun. 29th

09.30	CHECK OUT OF HOTEL (for those with flights that evening)
9.45 – 4.00	WINERY TOUR Acacia Ridge De Bortoli Train Trak
18.00 – 21.00	OPTIONAL DINNER

* Please note that this is a provisional schedule only and will be subject to change. Updates will be provided on a daily basis at morning briefing sessions.

Australian Delegate Profiles

CAI Yiyong / 蔡奕勇

Dr CAI Yiyong is a Complex Systems Scientist and Economic Modeller with CSIRO Marine and Atmospheric Research. He commenced with CSIRO in 2012 and is collaborating with team members from various disciplines on the integrated assessment of global environmental issues such as climate change, food security, carbon mitigation and energy transformation, and to help society make better informed planning and management decisions.

Prior to joining CSIRO, Dr Cai was a Postdoctoral Fellow at the Australian National University (ANU), Canberra, Australia, researching on stochastic economic growth and climate change economics and policy. Dr Cai has been awarded a Bachelor in Economics from Renmin University of China, a Master of Arts in International Finance with University Medal from Korea University, and a Doctor of Philosophy in Economics from ANU. During his PhD, Yiyong was involved in multiple climate policy research projects funded by the Australian Mineral Council, the US Department of Energy, and the Edison Electric Institute. He is also a research associate of the ANU Centre for Applied Macroeconomic Analysis and Asia Fellow of the Seoul-based POSCO T.J. Park Foundation.

Timothy COGLAN / 高靖峰

Timothy Coghlan leads the luxury retail team for Savills Property Services China and advises the world's most iconic fashion and luxury brands on their China entry, expansion and retail strategies. His clients include, LVMH Group, Kering Group, Richemont, Prada, Dolce & Gabbana, Ralph Lauren, Coach, and Tiffany & Co.

Timothy is also Founder & Editor of Maosuit.com, the leading China-based English language blog dedicated to the business of fashion and luxury in China. Maosuit.com is widely read amongst fashion, luxury and retail industry professionals and averages over 80,000 page views per month.

In 2012 Timothy received a grant from the Australia – China Council to create the Australia-China Fashion Alliance (ACFA) project. ACFA utilizes 'catwalk diplomacy' to engage the China Fashion Association and China Fashion Week through cultural and business dialogues. ACFA showcases designers, fosters mutual cooperation and collaboration, opens strategic and economic dialogue for regular exchange at the senior government and corporate level and provides strategic guidance to the development of Australian fashion brands, designers and related services in China.

Timothy has an extensive global network of fashion and luxury industry CEOs, designers and professionals. He is an influential voice in the China fashion industry and a sought after speaker and media commentator. Timothy graduated from the Australian National University with degrees in both Economics and Asian Studies. He speaks Mandarin and Japanese.

Twitter: @maosuit

Australian Delegate Profiles

Sam COOK / 柯珊

Sam works in Sydney as a Solicitor at King & Wood Mallesons in the Mergers and Acquisitions (M&A) practice group, where she has been involved in a wide-range of private and public M&A transactions, for example joint ventures and takeovers. Sam is interested in cross-border M&A and in particular, the legal, regulatory and corporate governance issues affecting China outbound transactions.

Prior to working in Sydney, Sam was awarded the AustCham China Scholarship which launched her career in Beijing, working as a Graduate Solicitor at King & Wood Mallesons. During her time in Beijing, Sam worked in the Banking and Finance department where she honed her legal and language skills.

Sam holds a Juris Doctor from Monash University (2011) and a Bachelor of Arts from the University of Melbourne (2008) with a major in Chinese Studies. As part of her undergraduate degree Sam spent a semester abroad at Fudan University, Shanghai.

From an early age, Sam has been fascinated with China and commenced Mandarin studies in Secondary School. She spent one year in Nanjing (2005) working as a trainee teacher on Caulfield Grammar School's internationalism program. Sam has travelled extensively throughout China, enabling her to develop an appreciation of the issues and opportunities existing in rural China.

Sam is an avid sportswoman and in her earlier life competed at a State and National level in athletics, cross-country and lifesaving. Although her dreams of sporting glory have somewhat faded, when she's not working, she enjoys running, swimming, soccer and the outdoors.

Ed COUSINS

Ed Cousins joined the Australian Army in 2006, and upon graduation from the Royal Military College – Duntroon, was allocated to the 3rd Battalion, Royal Australian Regiment (Parachute) as a Lieutenant. During his time at the Battalion he served in a variety of platoon command appointments.

In 2008, Ed deployed as a Rifle Platoon commander to Timor Leste at short notice, following the attempted assassinations of the President and Prime Minister of Timor Leste. The Platoon spent the next eight months conducting Security and Stabilisation Operations in Timor Leste as part of the International Security Force, working closely with the United Nations and Non-Government Organisations (NGO).

In 2011, Ed deployed to Afghanistan as a Mentoring Team leader, working to develop elements of the Afghan National Army's 4th Brigade through the planning and conduct of company level combat operations. During his deployment to Afghanistan, Ed also worked closely with AusAID Stability Advisors and various NGOs liaising with the local population about local development programs.

Ed is currently a Captain in the Australian Army and is studying towards a Masters of Security and Strategy through the Australian Defence Force Academy. He is particularly interested in how Australian-Sino relations will develop over the next decade, and feels that greater engagement between the two countries will enhance our economic and security ties.

Cameron EREN

Cameron Eren is an economist who has worked with the Department of the Prime Minister & Cabinet (PM&C), the Reserve Bank of Australia (RBA) and a number of research groups. Cameron has advised on developments in the Chinese economy at both PM&C and the RBA, focusing on the operation of China's financial, monetary, fiscal, and natural resource management systems.

Cameron's key interest is systems analysis – understanding how different systems, both artificial and natural, interact to produce outcomes that are relevant to individuals and governments. Cameron has a particular interest in natural resource systems. He has previously lectured and tutored in climate change economics and has worked with some of Australia's largest companies to develop and implement greenhouse emissions reduction plans. In 2008 Cameron negotiated one of the largest office building emissions reduction projects of its kind, which was awarded the 2009 Climate Change Leadership Award by the New South Wales Government. He also worked on developing Australia's carbon pricing scheme that has been operating since 1 July 2012.

Cameron has a double degree in Economics (hons) and Applied Finance from Macquarie University. He is also currently studying a double degree in Science and Arts at the University of Sydney, which he hopes will further develop his understanding of natural resource systems.

Twitter: @CameronEren

Cindy GOTTINGER / 淑云

Cindy Gottinger is a Brand Management and Strategy specialist at Volkswagen Group China where she supports the development of Skoda's brand and strategy in a highly competitive and growing Chinese automotive market. Recognised by the company as a young leader in her field, Cindy possesses an appetite to explore new markets and gain deeper insights into the evolving trends of Chinese consumers.

With over ten years involvement in the Australia China community, Cindy continues to be an active participant both in Australia and China. She is currently the Executive Director of Australia China Young Professional Initiative (ACYPI) in Greater China where she successfully established a platform for young professionals to engage in bilateral discussions and exchange.

As an experienced presenter fluent in Mandarin, Cantonese and German, Cindy is frequently invited to emcee and moderate a variety of business and community events both in Australia and China. In 2010 she was invited to emcee the AFL first international match played in China between Melbourne Demons and Brisbane Lions where the crowd reached close to 7000 spectators.

Before moving to Beijing Cindy worked for AIMG holdings, Australia's largest Chinese media company, where she managed the expansion of Chinese media properties both domestically and abroad. Prior to working for AIMG holdings Cindy worked in the Private Wealth Management division at Goldman Sachs JB Were.

Cindy graduated from Monash University in Australia with a Bachelor of Commerce and Arts majoring in economics, Chinese and German.

Isabelle KINGSHOTT

Isabelle Kingshott's interest in China began in her first year of university when she took part in an English Language Tutorial program providing free tutoring to International Students. This interest grew into a passion for student representation and advocacy which lead to her helping formulate a Language and Cultural Exchange Program as Welfare Officer of the University of Melbourne Student Union in 2012.

Currently, Isabelle is the Victorian President of the National Union of Students and is engaged in campaigns for tertiary students' rights and wellbeing across the state. Isabelle has a particular interest in the welfare of international students, particularly the ongoing fight for equality for international students with concession card travel.

She has also advocated for increased International Student representation in student unions throughout Victoria through her work with the Chinese Students and Scholars Association at Melbourne University and Proud to be International Students, an initiative run by the Victorian Branch of the National Union of Students.

Isabelle is currently in the final year of a Bachelor of Arts at the University of Melbourne with majors in both Asian Studies and Politics and International Studies. Next year she hopes to complete an honours year at the University of Melbourne in Asian Studies.

Twitter: @isabellekingsho

Australian Delegate Profiles

Anne KULESHOVA / 孔睿涵

Victorian Government Fellow

Anne Kuleshova is an experienced financial professional, having worked in Mergers and Acquisition (M&A) advisory in a top tier investment bank (Macquarie Capital) and in M&A and Valuations in Deloitte Corporate Finance. She holds an honours degree in commerce majoring in actuarial studies from The University of Melbourne.

As an Associate Director of China House Consultancy Co., Limited, Anne's work involves facilitating investment by Chinese State Owned Enterprises, private enterprises and ultra High Net Worths into energy and resources, renewables and agriculture projects in Australia.

As part of her role, Anne works with investment banks, company executives, government representatives as well as other professionals to identify investment opportunities for clients.

Anne has developed her corporate finance and strategic professional skills through six years' experience across a broad range of sectors including minerals, resources, renewable energy, infrastructure and funds management. She combines a deep knowledge of financial valuation and analysis with strong experience in mergers & acquisitions and deal execution.

Her strong commercial and analytical experience is underpinned by a solid actuarial foundation in mathematics, statistics, risk assessment and economics. These skills are further supported by her highly developed communication, negotiation and interpersonal skills.

Twitter: @AnneKuleshova;

Weibo: Kong_RuiHan;

Stephen MINAS / 周恩润

Stephen Minas is an adviser in the Office of the Premier of Victoria, where he has worked on policy areas including international engagement, trade and multicultural affairs.

Stephen worked on the development of the Victorian Government's comprehensive strategy to strengthen engagement with China.

Stephen holds Honours degrees in Law and History from the University of Melbourne and a Master of Science in International Relations from the London School of Economics, where he studied on a Graduate Merit Award. Stephen wrote his LSE dissertation on China's climate change diplomacy and undertook research on related issues at the Shanghai Institutes for International Studies. Stephen's research on Chinese law and public policy has been published in a number of academic journals.

After law school, Stephen studied Chinese for a semester at Fudan University in Shanghai and did some voluntary English teaching with China Study Abroad. As a journalist, Stephen covered the Copenhagen climate change summit, subsequent climate negotiations and other international stories, reporting on-air for RTHK Radio 3 and writing for a variety of publications, such as The Diplomat, China Dialogue and Eco-Business.

Stephen previously worked for members of the Australian Parliament on a broad range of policy areas including carbon capture and storage, humanitarian issues and multicultural affairs.

Twitter: @StephenMinas

Angus NICHOLSON / 周安杰

Angus Nicholson holds a BA Chinese (1st Class Honours) with a minor in economics from SOAS, University of London. He has worked for Austrade and China Policy in Beijing. He is currently an analyst at Wigram Capital Advisors, an Asia-Pacific-focused hedgefund and advisory.

He helped set up and establish the China-Britain Youth Association as their London President. He has had excerpts of his dissertation on the Chongqing Model published in Tea Leaf Nation and the Asia Society's ChinaFile publication, and has written on the China/US hacking scandal for Silicon Valley's PandoDaily. He is big fan of 1930s New Sensationalist writer, Mu Shiyong, and his twitter handle is @freescania.

Alexandra PHELAN / 余雪莲

Alexandra Phelan is a Doctorate of Juridical Science (SJD) candidate and General Sir John Monash Scholar at Georgetown University in Washington D.C, where she works in the area of global health law, with particular focus on Australia, China and US laws relating to health, climate change and pandemics.

Before commencing her doctoral studies, Ms Phelan was a solicitor at the top-tier law firm King & Wood Mallesons, where she worked in the climate change law and China groups, and was an active member of the human rights and pro-bono law groups. Ms Phelan holds a Bachelor of Biomedical Science/Bachelor of Laws (Honours) double degree from Monash University, specialising in international law and health human rights, and a Master of Laws, specialising in International Law from the Australian National University. Ms Phelan speaks Mandarin Chinese fluently, holding a Diploma of Languages (Mandarin Chinese), and has lived and worked in Beijing and Dalian, China.

In 2012, Ms Phelan lived and worked in Geneva, Switzerland at the World Health Organization as Gender, Equity and Human Rights intern, and as legal consultant at the GAVI Alliance (the Global Alliance for Vaccines and Immunisations). That same year, the Law Institute of Victoria recognised her as a Young High Flyer in law.

Twitter: @alexandraphelan

Sarah STEWART

Sarah Stewart is an MBA candidate at Harvard Business School, passionate about technology, cross-cultural management and the realization of potential.

Born and raised on the NSW Central Coast, Sarah's engagement with China began in 2007, when she moved there to see what all the fuss was about (and to try and learn to speak Mandarin). Sarah remained in mainland China from 2007 to 2012, and her work experience includes two years as a project manager at Australian consulting firm, the Beijing Consulting Group, and two years at Touchmedia, a venture capital backed Chinese technology company. At Touchmedia, Sarah was the founding member of the company's international team, and managed the establishment of the company's first two markets outside of mainland China, Canada and Hong Kong.

In 2008, Sarah founded the Shanghai branch of the Australia China Alumni Association, growing Shanghai membership from 60 to 1500 in two years and in 2009, was part of the small team that launched the now annual Australia China Alumni Awards. In 2010 she co-founded the Shanghai branch of the Australia China Young Professionals Initiative, and was also selected to serve as an honorary ambassador for Business Events Sydney.

In 2012, Sarah relocated to Boston after being accepted to Harvard Business School, and will graduate in May 2014.

Twitter: @sarstewart

Australian Delegate Profiles

Lisa QIN / 秦勤

Lisa Qin is currently a Frank Knox Fellow at the Harvard Graduate School of Education. A teacher and former solicitor with ten years of experience studying and working in education, law and government, Lisa is passionate about examining issues of equity and education internationally, particularly in China and Australia, through meaningful and sustainable educational reforms

Born in Guizhou, China then migrating to Canberra, Australia, Lisa speaks fluent Mandarin and has a long-standing interest in and commitment to Sino-Australian affairs stemming from her desire to understand and reconcile her cultural roots.

Lisa completed the Teach For Australia in 2012, a highly selective program whose participants teach in educationally disadvantaged schools for two years. She taught year 10-12 students at a regional Victorian secondary school and helped introduce an annual Diversity Day for multiculturalism in a predominantly Caucasian environment. Lisa also tutored remanded youth at the Melbourne Youth Justice Centre and taught disadvantaged rural primary and urban secondary students in Guizhou, China.

Before moving into education, Lisa worked for several years as a corporate lawyer in Hong Kong and Sydney with King&Wood Mallesons, an international firm anchored in Asia. She managed the Business Mandarin training and was involved with other China law initiatives.

Lisa received her undergraduate degrees in Commerce and Law from the Australian National University, with a semester abroad at the University of Hong Kong. She also holds a Masters of Teaching from the University of Melbourne.

Twitter: @hellolisa888

Veronica WALKER / 钱蔚璐

Veronica Walker is an Advisor in the Australia in the Asian Century Implementation Taskforce at the Department of the Prime Minister and Cabinet. The cross-agency Taskforce was established to support implementation of the Australian Government's Australia in the Asian Century White Paper. While working in the Taskforce, Veronica has demonstrated her passion for issues relating to Australia's engagement with Asia, and her particular interest in the Australia-China relationship. Veronica was seconded to the Taskforce from the Department of Education, Employment and Workplace Relations.

In 2010-11, Veronica spent a year working in Beijing for the Australia China Alumni Association as an Australian Youth Ambassador for Development. In this role, Veronica worked with local staff to build the profile of Australian-educated alumni in China through social and business networking events.

Veronica graduated from the Australian National University in 2006 with a Bachelor of Arts and Asian Studies (Chinese). As part of her Asian Studies degree, Veronica spent a year studying Mandarin Chinese at the Beijing Language and Culture University. Veronica first started studying Chinese at high school after becoming inspired during a family visit to Jiangsu in 1995.

Veronica is currently completing a Masters of Social Research through the Australian Demographic and Social Research Institute at the Australian National University.

Sue-Lin WONG / 黄淑琳

Sue-Lin Wong is a sixth year Asian Studies/Laws student at the Australian National University.

She was a recipient of the Prime Minister's Australia Asia Award 2011-2013. As part of the scholarship, Sue-Lin studied at the Tsinghua-Berkeley Inter-University Program for Chinese language and interned at the Natural Resources Defense Council and the New York Times Beijing Bureau.

During her eight months interning at the New York Times in Beijing, Sue-Lin wrote both English and Chinese language articles and contributed research to pieces that covered topics ranging from urbanization, crack-downs on big dogs in Beijing to the experience of being an overseas Chinese in China.

As an Australian born Chinese, Sue-Lin is particularly interested in how young Australians and Chinese can meaningfully engage with each other. She is fascinated why so many foreigners in China rarely have any deep, real friendships with Chinese.

During her time in China, Sue-Lin has gone root-seeking for her ancestral villages in Guangdong and Fujian provinces, worked at the Beijing Olympics, survived a semester on exchange at a Beijing high school, taught English amongst the rice paddies on rural Hunan, studied in the hallowed halls of Peking University, partied for a semester at Beijing Language and Culture University and ridden lots of trains around China – one of her favourite things of all time.

Twitter: @suelinwong

Weibo: 淑琳suelin

Chinese Delegate Profiles

Lennon CHANG / 张耀中

Dr Lennon Chang joined the Department of Applied Social Studies at the City University of Hong Kong as a tenure-track Assistant Professor in November 2011. He is also an Associate Investigator at the Australian Research Council Centre of Excellence in Policing and Security.

He was awarded his PhD by the Australian National University in November 2010. He has a Masters in Criminology and Bachelor in Law from National Taipei University. In 2007 he received an Endeavour Asia Award and in 2009 was selected by Peking University and Griffith Asia Institute to be an Australia-China Emerging Leader. In 2013, Lennon was a Global Emerging Voices Fellow.

From 2005 to 2007, Lennon worked as a researcher and project manager at the Science and Technology Law Centre, Institute for Information Industry, which is recognized as one of the most important think-tanks in Taiwan in the area of legal responses to new technology. Before joining City University of Hong Kong, Lennon worked as a post-doctoral research officer at the Centre of Excellence in Policing and Security at the Australian National University.

Dr Chang is interested in researching crime and governance of cyberspace — cybercrime, cyber terrorism and cyber warfare. He is particularly interested in the regulation and governance of cyberspace in the Asia-Pacific region. His book Cybercrime in the Greater China Region: Regulatory Responses and Crime Prevention (Edward Elgar, 2012) is about the nature and range of responses to cybercrime between China and Taiwan. Dr Chang's professional interest in China continues and he is currently researching on-line vigilantism in China. He is also undertaking NGO-sponsored research into cybercrime and cyber-deviance among Hong Kong juveniles.

Jason HO / 何伟杰

Jason Ho is a Manager in Risk and Controls Assurance practice of PricewaterhouseCoopers Hong Kong. He is managing the technology risk and strategy, information security, regulatory compliance and incident investigation businesses in Hong Kong and Southern China, including advising numerous financial institutions, governments, regulatory bodies, quasi-government organisations, and major Chinese state-owned enterprises.

Jason also serves as a committee member of the Professional Development Section of ISACA that delivers continuing professional development seminars, professional information security examinations, CISA and CISM revision classes in Hong Kong and Southern China. Jason has been a guest lecturer at the University of Hong Kong to deliver technology general education classes and in Hong Kong University of Science and Technology (HKUST) to deliver penetration testing workshops.

Jason also serves as a member of Youth Service Advisory Committee of The Hong Kong Federation of Youth Groups (HK-FYG) and a Director, Treasurer and Council Member of his alma mater's alumni organisation, St. Louis School.

Jason holds a Bachelor of Engineering in Information Engineering (1st class honours) with minor in Business Administration from The Chinese University of Hong Kong (CUHK) and Master of Laws (LLM) in Arbitration & Dispute Resolution at HKU.

Weibo: Jason_WK_Ho;

Jill JU / 鞠 宙

Jill Xiaozhou Ju is co-chair of Harvard Business School China Entrepreneurship Club and co-founder of Sensible Baby, a Boston based infant safety technology start-up. She is an active member of the Boston tech start-up and social enterprises scene.

Previously, Jill worked for UBS Investment Banking in Hong Kong and Beijing, focusing on China cross-border M&A transactions. She also worked for Fab.com in Berlin and Shanghai Development Research Center in Shanghai.

Jill graduated from Peking University with a Bachelor of Economics. She is currently studying at Harvard Business School as an MBA candidate.

She speaks fluent Mandarin, English and German. With years of studying and working in multicultural environment since a young age, she has a good understanding of both Chinese and western culture and am passionate about bridging those two in both cultural and business context.

Twitter: @JillJu; Weibo: Jill_Ju

Li Yijia / 李一佳

Victorian Government Fellow

Li Yijia holds a double Bachelor degree in Biology from Tsinghua University and in Economics from Peking University. He has done internships in Mercer consulting, Roland Berger Consultant and Tsinghua Science Park. He is now a third year Ph.D. student in Neuroscience at the Florey Institute of Neuroscience and Mental Health, University of Melbourne. Besides study, he and other three Chinese overseas students founded a Not-For-Profit Organization called Melbourne Pioneer (MP). MP is strongly supported by the Group of Eight and local community's network resources, MP is determined to dedicate itself to promoting and providing innovative entrepreneurship services for the young and ambitious generation in Australia.

At MP, we uphold the belief of "growth, and help others grow; achievements, and help others achieve!" It is embraced and reinforced by the enterprise culture "Vision, Passion, Action". As we are always passionate about innovation and entrepreneurship, this leads to us building better services for businesses and the greater social welfare so that everyone benefits. MP has demonstrated a rising trajectory in attracting and training more and more talented youth. As Melbourne's first and proudly the only Chinese innovation and entrepreneurship platform, we have been constantly working to help more Chinese overseas students to realize their personal values and achieve the best in Australia.

In 2013, MP is promoting Chinese students to do volunteering work in local communities to help them be involved in Australian culture.

Twitter: @MP-Yijia
Weibo: MP-Yijia

LIU Sisi / 刘思斯

Liu Sisi is a student at Nanyang Technological University (NTU), Singapore. She received her Bachelor's Degree with honours in Accounting from Dongbei University of Finance and Economics (DUFE).

Liu Sisi represented DUFE in the Dalian City Model United Nations Conference organized by the Dalian Municipal Communist Youth League Committee investigating the issues of an aging society, where she played the part of a Cuban diplomat. She has also volunteered at the Dalian Summer Davos, World Economic Forum.

She represented her alma mater in the CFA Global Investment Research Challenge broadcast on China Central Television (CCTV) and won "The Best Performing Team" award in December 2010. She also led a 4-member team in the Chartered Institute of Management Accountants (CIMA) Global Business Challenge, making it into the TOP 20 in Northern China in 2010-11.

Liu Sisi began learning Guzheng, a traditional Chinese musical instrument at an early age. She is also accomplished in Chinese calligraphy and a number of her works have been collected and exhibited in the local art gallery. She dreams of one day promoting Chinese traditional culture internationally. She believes that cultural diplomacy will bring the people of China and Australia closer together.

Twitter: @niunailizhi;
Weibo: 扛霸子田心;

Chinese Delegate Profiles

Wellington LIU / 刘涛

Liu Tao is currently a graduate student of Master in Public Policy at Lee Kuan Yew School of Public Policy, National University of Singapore. His specialisation in his Masters program is in economic policy analysis focusing on Asia. Prior to studying in Singapore, he had 10 years work experience with China Customs and Shanghai Municipal Government. In Singapore, he also worked with the team of Worldtrade Management Services at PricewaterhouseCoopers to provide trade compliance advisory. At present, he is conducting a summer internship with United Nations Economic and Social Commission for Asia and the Pacific in Bangkok, Thailand.

Liu started his career in 2002 with Shanghai Customs as a Customs official. He was closely connected with the foreign trade community and has witnessed firsthand the difficulties of pushing through system-wide changes in China's trade institution. Some of his professional thoughts and achievements contributed to the published working papers and won him awards from Customs.

From 2009 to 2012, Liu worked for the Foreign Affairs Office of Shanghai Government as a desk officer for Asia in the consular affairs division. His duties included liaison with diplomats of Consular Corps in Shanghai and international cooperation between Shanghai and foreign governments.

Based on his previous and current professional roles in trade, diplomacy and business, Liu will bring to ACYD 2013 his insightful perspective on not only the China-Australia ties, but the challenges and opportunities of an emerging Asia to the globe.

Twitter: @hartmannslike
Weibo: Wellington-LiuTao

LIU Yun / 刘韵

University of Sydney's China Studies Centre Fellow

Yun Liu is an incoming student of Johns Hopkins Paul H. Nitze School of Advanced International Studies (SAIS), which is based in Washington, D.C. Yun's strong interest in international affairs and unique international experiences have been demonstrated through her diverse working experiences in both Australia and China. She previously interned at the Lowy Institute for International Policy, where she assisted in conducting research and preparing international workshops for the East Asian Program. She also worked in the Office of Vice-Chancellor at the University of Sydney as a project assistant, and successfully coordinated and implemented over 15 high-level leadership training programs from Asia-Pacific. Yun has also interned at China Radio International, the most prominent international radio company in China. The internship provided her the opportunity to look at international affairs from a media angle.

Yun graduated from the University of Sydney in April 2013 with First Class Honours in her Bachelor of International and Global Studies, majoring in Government and International Relations, and Economics. During her Honours year, she completed a 19,000-word thesis on Taiwan's changing economic policymaking towards China Mainland. Her outstanding academic record has brought her many awards, including the 2009 International Merit Scholarship and the 2010 Academic Merit Prize. As a Chinese student in Australia, Yun has devoted herself to promoting cross-cultural exchange in her capacity as the International Student Intern at the University of Sydney Union. In 2012, she was awarded a University of Sydney Union Blue Award for her outstanding contribution to the student community. She is also a finalist of the University of Sydney Graduate Medal.

Chloe QIU / 裴文琴

Chloe Qiu is an investment banker-turned-entrepreneur who was born in Shanghai and now lives in Hong Kong with her husband.

Chloe moved to Australia at the age of 16 to study and graduated from the University of Sydney with a Bachelor of Commerce (Liberal Studies) degree. She has a Master of Finance (Investment Banking) degree from INSEAD Business School which was sponsored by her first employer, Macquarie Capital. At Macquarie, Chloe worked for five years in the Real Estate Corporate Advisory team in Sydney, Melbourne, Hong Kong and Shanghai. In the summer of 2011, she met her current business partners and established Findings Group Limited, an advanced distribution and business development company in Hong Kong.

Having spent half of her life in China and Australia respectively, Chloe has a deep understanding and appreciation for both cultures, their similarities and more so their differences. With the increasing number of Chinese immigrants as well as the growing economic ties between the two nations, Chloe firmly believes that China and Australia will both benefit by making an effort to learn from and better understand each other, such as the deep rooted respect towards the elderly in Chinese societies and the value of 'a fair go' in Australian culture. As a part of her work, she helps western companies who are interested in entering China bridge this cultural gap and form localised business strategies.

Chloe is a quantum physics enthusiast with further interests in yoga and meditation.

Jeffrey REN / 任杰

China University Media Union Fellow

Jeffrey Ren, though a junior student from Beijing University of Aeronautics and Astronautics, is now a youth ambassador of Corporate Social Responsibility honoured by the UN Global Compact Network, and President of China Alliance of Campus International Societies. He devotes time to promoting more enterprises to value Corporate Social Responsibility including environment protection, human rights and technology innovation. Under his leadership, China Alliance of Campus International Societies achieved the connection to Embassies and other international organizations. At the end of July, he attended the China Summit on Caring for Climate and organized youth from different countries to draft a proposal of prevent climate change. During the Summit, he interviewed high-end entrepreneurs and attracted the attention of media.

As Secretary-General of BUAA Model United Nations Association, he successfully held a College United Nations conference last year and attended a Harvard Model Nations Summit as head delegate of his University. With some experience in youth leadership, he helped organize the UK-CHINA Youth Forum and "youth in action" program with youth from both Europe and China. With rich experience in public diplomacy and international communication, he was selected as the Chinese delegate to the Shanghai Cooperation Organization Youth Forum 2012 and discussed youth problems with officials from countries

Twitter: @JeffreyRen
Weibo: 无事生非 Jeffrey

LuLu SHEN / 沈云婷

Lulu Shen was born in Beijing, China and came to Australia pursuing a higher education at Monash University.

Currently working as the Chinese media specialist for the City of Sydney, Lulu has intimate knowledge in engaging a significant variety of cultural communication projects, many of which involves Australia and China bilateral relations. The experience provides Lulu with inside knowledge about journalism practices in both Australia and China.

Lulu assisted in successful publicity campaigns for the City of Sydney's Chinese New Year Festival (CNY) and New Year's Eve celebration, resulting in the highest level of national and international ethnic media coverage ever recorded. She supported the City in maintaining the CNY as the largest CNY celebration outside of mainland China, resulting in the event being one of the City's most successful CNY celebrations to date.

SHEN Ying / 陶丽娜

As an Australian Postgraduate Award Scholar, Ying Shen is now a PhD candidate in Environmental Law at the University of Western Sydney.

She received her LL.B (Ranking No. 1) from Nanjing University, China and two LL.M degrees from Nanjing University, China and the University of Goettingen, Germany. During her undergraduate and postgraduate study, Ying volunteered and interned with various institutions in China and Germany. Upon completion of her

Chinese Delegate Profiles

LL.M study, she worked as an Assistant Judge at Jiangsu Wuxi People's Intermediate Court in China from 2010 to 2011. To pursue her academic interest, she resigned her post as Assistant Judge and took up her PhD candidature in Australia in 2011.

Ying's current research focuses on the development of the legal framework for the control of carbon emissions in China. She conducts her research work from a comparative perspective. She has written on different mitigation mechanisms such as carbon tax and ETS, and her articles have been published or accepted for publication by some leading American environmental law journals.

Ying was a frequent scholarship recipient. She secured scholarships in each academic year during her undergraduate study and was funded by DAAD (German Academic Exchange Service) during her time in Germany. With studying and living experience in several countries, she is keen to cross-cultural conversations with people from different background.

Lina TAO / 陶丽娜

Foundation for Australian Studies in China Fellow

Lina Tao is a postgraduate research student at the School of Humanities, University of New South Wales, Australia. She completed her Bachelor's degree in Communication Studies at Peking University in 2004. After graduating, she worked as a journalist and news editor at a Chinese daily newspaper, the Beijing Times (Jinghua Shibao). From 2008-12, she worked as a researcher and policy analyst at China Policy, a Beijing-based policy consultancy. She managed research projects on a wide range of social and policy issues with a particular focus on the power of Chinese social media and developed protocols and content for China Policy's information system products.

Lina received an 'Excellent Students Award' and 'University Principal's Fund Research Award' as an undergraduate at Peking University. In 2013, she was awarded the University International Postgraduate Award by UNSW. Her research project examines the intersections between the media, migration, and children in contemporary China. As an individual who had moved from rural to urban China and has now experienced a transnational movement to Australia, she is always fascinated by migrants' journeys and the media's role in the populous mobility. Her research interests lie in migration, practice of journalism, media policies, and social media.

Weibo: 呼吸中的轻羽

Neroli WANG / 王喆

Neroli Wang recently graduated from Peking University with a Juris Master Degree, with which she majored in anti-monopoly and anti-unfair competition law. Currently, she sets her feet in three different fields, including in the field of law as a part-time lawyer, business as the CBO&CLO of McJayden (Beijing) Biotech Co., Ltd., and in culture as a fixed guest of CCTV 1.

Neroli previously worked as a Legal Intern at the Freshfields Bruckhaus Deringer LLP, advising on Chinese competition law and merger control, such as General Cable on its acquisition of Alcan Cable business from Rio Tinto. Neroli was also an intern at the Ministry of Commerce's Anti-Monopoly Bureau of P.R.C. in 2011. At the beginning of 2012, she was awarded a scholarship to the China Young Development Program held at Columbia University in the United States.

Neroli is very civic minded and has always taken a very keen interest in roles where she can promote community development. In 2010, she volunteered at the Yilian Labor Legal Aid and Research Center of Beijing as a consultant. She investigated mining areas, researching the professional and living conditions of mine-workers and provided legislative proposals for prevention and control of occupational diseases.

YANG Lin / 杨林

Yang Lin was born and raised in China and later educated in the USA at Harvard University. Lin is a China public policy specialist and a media veteran. She is regarded as a credible China story teller within the international community.

Lin's career has been dominated by China story telling on the world stage. She is the Founder and President of Innovation Ideas Institute(3i), was a Senior Research Associate for the China Public Policy Program at Harvard University, and a special contributor and commentator to some major Chinese and American media outlets. Her tasks at Harvard were through first hand interviews and balanced case research to bring insights to the international world of academia, government, and business on how government works in China and how public policies are made in the rapidly changing environment.

Her most recent research focuses on policies related to "China invest in USA", a new and fast growing phenomenon in US-China economic relations, and on how to foster a healthy bilateral investment environment between US and China.

Previously Lin was a key English/Chinese Anchor and reporter for China Central Television (CCTV) International, presenting Chinese political and economic events to the world and bringing fresh perspectives to the World's News sphere. She anchored numerous unprecedented live breaking News events that made China's broadcasting history, including live coverage of the 2003 Iraq war, the SARS epidemic, the first Round of Six party talks, and the launch of China's first manned spacecraft-Shenzhou 5, etc. She has also interviewed numerous world political and business leaders. In 2006, she was with CNN Washington DC Bureau.

ZHANG Lei / 张磊

Foundation for Australian Studies in China Fellow

Zhang Lei joined the Australian Studies Centre at Renmin University of China where he has organised a series of events promoting Australia.

He has lead activities ranging from the RUC Australian Cultural Week, to Australia-oriented academic lectures, to managing the Centre's blog focusing on current affairs in Australia.

As a MA candidate in Australian Studies program, his research interests include relation between Australia and the Asia-Pacific, Sino-Australia relationship and Australian Postmodern Literature. His current interests include re-positioning Australia in the Asia-Pacific in the new century, the implications of America's re-balancing toward Asia in Australia, transnational Australian studies and transpacific studies. Zhang Lei has attended forums and conferences in South Korea, America and Europe. He finds it a great pleasure to meet new friends and share cutting-edge ideas.

Zhang Lei graduated with a BA in English from China Agricultural University with the Best Graduate Thesis Award and the Graduate Honour in 2011. During his undergraduate years, he served as the chair of the student union in the department for two terms and co-founded the International Communication and Cooperation Association at CAU.

Weibo: BillBushy

Joe ZHAO / 赵旭

ANZ Fellow

Joe Zhao has been working for Australia and New Zealand Bank (ANZ) since September 2009. He is currently the Director as Head of Large Local Corporate in ANZ Shanghai Branch. Previously, Joe also worked in Corporate Banking for Royal Bank of Scotland for almost 4 years and Standard Chartered Bank for 2 years. The work scope includes large Chinese corporate-orientated marketing, communication and selling commercial bank's products. In Joe's client portfolio, a number of clients also have subsidiaries set up and operating in Australia, covering industry across iron & steel, agriculture, shipping, container transportation, renewable energy, automakers, etc. With strong economic ties and collaboration between Australia and China, Joe has assisted more and more Chinese companies explore business opportunities in the Australian market.

Joe Zhao studied in the UK and holds a Master degree in Economics and Finance from University of Warwick, and an undergraduate degree from University of Buckingham. Outside of work, he enjoys swimming and playing golf.

Weibo: Joexz

6 Major Partners

ACYD Partners

ACYD would like to acknowledge the generosity of our major sponsors.

Australian National University

The Australian National University (ANU) is a celebrated place of intensive research, education and policy engagement. ANU is home to an interconnected community of scholars. The University is located in the heart of Canberra, Australian Capital Territory, Australia. The ANU is a major supporter of the ACYD through the ANU College of Asia & the Pacific, and through the Australian Centre on China in the World.

ANU China in the World

The Australian Centre on China in the World (CIW) is a research institution established to enhance the existing capabilities of The Australian National University (ANU). It aims to be an integrated, world-leading institution for Chinese Studies and the understanding of China, or what has been called 'Greater China' or the 'Chinese Commonwealth' (the People's Republic of China, the Hong Kong and Macau Special Administrative Regions, as well as Taiwan and the Chinese diaspora), on a global scale.

F A S I C

Foundation for Australian Studies in China

The Foundation for Australian Studies in China (the Foundation) is a not-for-profit organisation registered in Australia. The Foundation supports existing and future initiatives in the area of Australian Studies in China to create sustainable and effective educational programs in China which improve the understanding of Australia in China. The Foundation plays a significant role in the promotion of Australian Studies in China and will further expand and strengthen research and teaching alliances and links between Australian and

Australia-China Council - Department of Foreign Affairs & Trade

The Australia-China Council (ACC) was established by the Australian Government in 1978 to promote mutual understanding and foster people-to-people relations between Australia and China. The function of the Council is to make recommendations to the Australian Government through the Minister for Foreign Affairs on strengthening the Australia-China relationship in ways that support Australia's foreign and trade policy interests. ACC Secretariat is a part of the North Asia Division within the Department of Foreign Affairs and Trade.

Asialink

Asialink is Australia's leading centre for the promotion of public understanding of the countries of Asia and of Australia's role in the region. The organisation is a key provider of information, training and professional networks. Asialink is a non-academic centre of The University of Melbourne and an initiative of the Myer Foundation.

Victorian Government

Victoria has a strong relationship with China which includes a history of mutual business participation. Victorian Government Business Offices in Shanghai, Nanjing, Beijing, Chengdu and Hong Kong play a vital role in the facilitation of trade and investment. China continues to be of vital importance to the Victorian economy, being Victoria's largest import source and largest export market. Bilateral relations between Victoria and China continue to strengthen. Victoria and Jiangsu Province enjoy a sister-state relationship, and there is also a sister-city relationship between the city of Melbourne and Tianjin.

6 Associate Partners

ACYD Partners

ACYD would like to acknowledge the generosity of our Associate Partners, Media Partners, Alumni Partner and Professional Services Partner

CORRS
CHAMBERS
WESTGARTH
lawyers

Australian Government

Department of Industry, Innovation,
Climate Change, Science, Research and Tertiary Education

CAPITAL
BEIJING
前门M餐厅

Media Partners

Business
Spectator

channel  gold

Alumni Association Partner

HENLEY CLUB

Professional Services Partners

CORRS
CHAMBERS
WESTGARTH
lawyers

ACYD Team Profiles

Henry MAKEHAM
孟秉融

Founder and Chairman

City of residence:
Hong Kong

henry.makeham@acyd.org.au

Henry F. Makeham is the founder and Chair of the Board of the Australia-China Youth Dialogue; an early career leaders forum for Australia-China affairs. He is also a founder / advisory board member of the Australia-China Youth Association, a founder of the Australia-China Young Professionals Initiative, and an advisory board member of Agilis Health, Inc.; a Delaware incorporated, Boston-based healthcare technology start-up.

Henry is a recipient of the Prime Minister's Australia Asia Endeavour Award, and has been named a Global Emerging Voices Fellow, a Pacific Forum CSIS Young Leader, and one of the Lowy Institute for International Policy's 50 New Voices on international leadership. In 2012, the Australian Government invited Henry as a delegate to the second Australia-China Forum: Australia's highest level track 1.5 dialogue with the People's Republic of China. Henry's research on Chinese law, foreign policy, and Australia-China relations has been published in the Chinese Journal of International Politics (Oxford University Press, in press), Hong Kong Law Journal, China Daily, Xinhua News, Fairfax Media, and the East Asia Forum.

Henry graduated from the Australian National University (ANU) with double first class honors degrees in Law (LL.B.) and Asian Studies (Chinese). He has studied Chinese law and language at Peking University Law School, the East China University of Politics and Law, and the University of California, Berkeley (Inter-University Program for Chinese Language Study at Tsinghua University). Henry also holds a Master of Laws (LL.M.) from Harvard Law School.

Fiona LAWRIE
红玫

Executive Director

City of residence:
Melbourne

fiona.lawrie@acyd.org.au

Fiona Lawrie is Manager of Strategic Development at Thirst, working alongside the Thirst team to engage young people in water conservation initiatives in China. Thirst is harnessing social media and technology to create a water-smart generation of 14-24 year olds who understand the impact of invisible water. Fiona serves as an advisor to the CEO on strategy, while managing and coordinating projects with the Thirst team.

Fiona speaks Mandarin fluently. She holds a Bachelor's of Arts degree from the University of Melbourne and completed her Chinese studies at Liaoning University, Shenyang, and the Political University of Taiwan. She is currently undertaking a Masters of Sustainability at Monash University. She is recognised by the World Economic Forum as a Global Shaper and she is the curator of the Melbourne Hub.

Natalie COPE

南希

Director

City of residence:
Sydney

natalie.cope@acyd.org.au

Natalie is Manager of Partnerships and Development at Asialink, Australia's leading centre for the promotion of public understanding of, and engagement with the countries of Asia.

In her role as Manager of Partnerships and Development at Asialink, Natalie works closely with business, government, philanthropic and cultural partners to initiate and strengthen Australia-Asia engagement, and develop Australia's Asia capabilities. Based in Sydney, Natalie is also working closely with the Asialink executive to develop Asialink's new Sydney office.

Preceding her days with Asialink, Natalie practised as a litigation lawyer with international firm DLA Piper, prior to which she worked in Beijing as a trainee lawyer with one of China's premier law firms assisting in advising Chinese clients with their investments in foreign jurisdictions, as well as assisting in advising international entities on their operations in China.

Natalie has completed Mandarin language studies at Tsinghua University, has worked as a program consultant for a Beijing-based Chinese language study abroad agency in the lead up to which Natalie interned with a magic circle law firm in Hong Kong.

Elizabeth RESIDE

李思

Company Secretary

City of residence:
Canberra

elizabeth.reside@acyd.org.au

Elizabeth Reside is currently completing her final year of a Bachelor of Laws/Bachelor of Asia Pacific Studies (Chinese) at the ANU. She developed her interest in China while studying Mandarin at PLC Melbourne, where she received the 2008 International Baccalaureate Prize for Mandarin.

In 2009 she was awarded the National Undergraduate Scholarship to study at the ANU, where she became actively involved in student societies and programs. These included Vice President Outgoing Exchange (2009) and President (2010) of AIESEC ANU and a member of the Burton and Garran Hall Academic Team (2010). In 2011 she enjoyed roles as Logistics Director for the inaugural ANU Asia Pacific Week conference and a part time paralegal at the Aboriginal Legal Service Canberra before clerking at Jonathan Wong Lawyers Melbourne. In 2012 she was one of six Australian Interns at Herbert Smith Freehills London, while also keeping the trains running on time as Secretary for the Australia China Youth Association National Executive. At present she remains involved in the ACYA Group as Steering Committee Secretary. Elizabeth's articles have been published in the ACYA Cultural Journal of Sino-Australia Affairs and 新金山 Newspaper, Melbourne.

Elizabeth is a passionate supporter of the Essendon Football Club and when she has time, she likes to indulge in watching Chinese dramas, sabre fencing and baking.

Michael TING

陈际利

Treasurer, ACYD

City of residence:
Hong Kong

michael.ting@acya.org.au

Michael Ting is a recent graduate of the University of Melbourne where he studied a Bachelor of Laws/Commerce concurrently with a Diploma of Modern Languages (Chinese).

He has travelled extensively and studied in Switzerland, Hong Kong and Beijing. In 2008, Michael took the opportunity to study Mandarin at Peking University. His most memorable experience was appearing on a talk show aired nationally on CCTV 1.

Michael has also worked in China and Hong Kong, most recently completing clerkships at two international law firms. In 2012, Michael will be starting with Mallesons Stephen Jaques in Hong Kong. Michael has a keen interest in Chinese law, and in particular, China's activities in the World Trade Organization. His articles have been published in Australia and in Hong Kong, including in the Hong Kong Law Journal.

ACYD Team Profiles

Greg AINSWORTH
安格力

Partnership Development
Manager

City of residence: Boston

gregory.ainsworth@acyd.org.au

Greg Ainsworth is a graduate of the University of New South Wales in Economics and Chinese Studies. He completed an exchange at Shanghai's Fudan University and also worked for a large construction company in Shanghai and a distribution company in Macau. He has enjoyed extensive travel in China across all points of the compass.

Currently based in Boston, Massachusetts, Greg works as a management consultant with a boutique firm that specializes in growth strategies for Global 1,000 firms but also takes on entrepreneurial projects with smaller firms and startups. In addition, Greg runs a medical device company with a team based in the Cambridge area and in hospitals around Boston. Prior to this, Greg worked for 2.5 years in the Department of the Prime Minister and Cabinet in Canberra where he worked in international policy and economic policy before joining the Strategy and Delivery Division.

Simon MANETTI
司马睿

Partnership Development
Coordinator (International)

City of residence: London

simon.manetti@acyd.org.au

Simon Manetti graduated from the University of New South Wales with a Bachelor of Arts (Psychology and History) before moving to Beijing to study at the Beijing Language and Culture University. After attaining fluency in Mandarin, Simon moved to Ningbo to take a post as a Junior Manager at a trading and manufacturing company – managing production staff and sourcing luxury textiles in Zhejiang Province.

In 2008, Simon began working for Interbrand in Shanghai, helping foreign clients such as P&G, Toyota and Dow Chemical localise their brands for the China market while also supporting Chinese clients such as Huawei and Sany step onto the global stage, managing to name a Macau casino along the way.

In mid-2009 Simon set upon his current career path by joining China Solutions LLC as Project Manager, leading Chinese legal graduates in providing legal and operational solutions for foreign investors – focussed towards drafting manufacturing and employment contracts, WFOE formation and crisis management. During this time, he also co-wrote papers on 'China's New Foreign Partnership Structure' and 'Court Selection in Shanghai' as well as leading a re-branding of China Solutions.

Stevan TAO
陶钧

Partnership
Development
Coordinator (China)

City of residence: Beijing

stevan.tao@acya.org.au

Stevan is a graduate of the Australian National University with double degrees in Psychology and Commerce (Finance). Throughout university, he has been an active member of the Australia-China Youth Association, where he previously served as ACYA's National Sponsorship Director.

Stevan is currently working for the China-Australia Chamber of Commerce in Beijing as the Northern China Manager (Membership).

Stevan is passionate about sports and in particular, basketball. He is a diehard fan of the Houston Rockets (NBA) and the Ningbo Bayi Rockets (CBA).

Lucas DE TOCA
卢克

Partnership
Development
Coordinator
(Australia)

City of residence: Sydney

lucas.detoca@acyd.org.au

Dr Lucas de Toca obtained his medical degree after studying at the University of Sydney and the Autonomous University of Madrid, in Spain. He is currently based in Sydney, teaching as a Clinical Lecturer at Sydney Medical School. He has a keen interest in public health, particularly health systems strengthening and the expansion of effective universal health coverage. Following that drive he completed a Master of Public Health at Harvard University concentrating in Health Policy and Public Health Leadership.

At Harvard, Lucas studied under Professor William Hsiao and Yunali Liu, Director of the Harvard School of Public Health China Initiative, on Chinese health reform, where he was awarded a student prize. During his time in Boston he also taught medical and dental students at Harvard Medical School.

Hayley WARD
嘿美丽

Arts and Creative Industries
Panel Coordinator

City of residence:

Beijing

hayley.ward@acyd.org.au

Ms Hayley Ward is currently Senior Cultural Relations Officer at the Australian Embassy in Beijing. She worked with the Asia Education Foundation and Asialink at the University of Melbourne for three years, assisting with their Asia literacy and Track II diplomacy programs. She was the National Communications Director for the Australia-China Youth Association, and has been actively involved in developing the Australia-China Youth Dialogue since its foundation.

In 2009, Hayley spent a year as an Australian Youth Ambassador for Development at the Center for Biodiversity and Indigenous Knowledge and Yunnan Academy of Social Sciences, Kunming. In 2011, she was selected to attend the Republic of China (Taiwan) Centennial National Celebrations and International Peace Day celebration of peaceful Cross-Strait relations with Taiwanese President Ma Ying-jeou.

Hayley presented a paper on the role of young people in Australia-China relations at the Deakin University conference "Cross-cultural Literacy: China and Australia in the Asian Century", at the Australian Studies Centre, Renmin University of China, Beijing in October 2012. Hayley continues to be inspired to develop her diverse interests in international relations, media and communications, creative industries and people-to-people exchange towards a career in cultural and public diplomacy, in pursuit of furthering meaningful and dynamic Sino-Australian engagement.

ACYD Team Profiles

Joe MCCARTHY
马洲屹

Website Manager

City of residence:
Canberra

joe.mccarthy@acyd.org.au

Joe McCarthy is a PhD Candidate in the School of Sociology at the Australian National University, and a member of the ANU China Institute. His PhD research explores sustainable energy in the Chinese power generation industry and is concerned with the institutional forces (domestic and international) that influence the operational decisions and strategies of China's centrally-owned power companies. His research also charts the development of sustainability ideas in the Chinese power generation industry, and whether Ecological Modernisation theory can explain recent developments in China's power generation industry.

Before commencing his PhD research in 2011, Joe graduated with First Class Honours in a Bachelor of Security Analysis (Asia-Pacific) from the ANU College of Asia Pacific at the Australian National University. His honours thesis 'Crude Oil Mercantilism? An Analysis of Chinese National Oil Companies investment in Kazakhstan and Sudan' explored Chinese NOCs' investment in developing nations, within the context of Western debates on Chinese 'resource mercantilism'. A journal article from this research will be published in a special issue of the Pacific Affairs journal, entitled 'Crude 'Oil-Mercantilism'? Chinese Oil-Engagement in Kazakhstan' in June 2013.

In 2009-2010, Joe was a ANU Summer Research Scholar in the Department of International Relations in the College of Asia Pacific. His research explored the geopolitics of Chinese engagement in Central Asia with specific reference to energy engagement.

Joe is currently living in Canberra after returning from Beijing where he was a Visiting Scholar at Peking University during 2012.

His role at ACYD is to manage the digital content for the website.

Samantha TEONG
张丽慧

Operations and Logistics Manager

City of residence:
Canberra

samantha.teong@acyd.org.au

Samantha is currently in the fourth year of a double degree in Law and Asian-Pacific Studies at the Australian National University. She has been an active member of the ACYA Canberra chapter since second year, serving on the executive committee and facilitating social and other career events run by the Association.

Having assisted with the Canberra leg of ACYD in 2011 and the inaugural Asia-Pacific Week in 2011 at the ANU, Samantha is confident at logistic coordination. She looks forward to lending her experiences to the Dialogue this year in ensuring its smooth delivery.

Samantha's keen interest in Asia generally stems from her work experiences in law firms in Singapore, as well as her job as a legal research assistant at the ANU on global law firm activity in Asia. In a rapidly globalising economy, the potential of China and the rest of Asia is an area of great interest to her.

Samantha has spent fourteen years growing up in Singapore and is fluent in Mandarin, her second language. When not busy watching Hong Kong dramas to brush up on some Cantonese, Samantha enjoys expending her creative energies on jewellery making.

Neil THOMAS
牛犇

Publications
Manager /
Business Panel
Coordinator

City of residence: Perth

neil.thomas@acyd.org.au

Neil is passionate about the future direction of Australia as a nation, and believes the Australia-China relationship will figure prominently. He is a Law/Arts student at the University of Western Australia writing an Honours thesis on the dynamics of Chinese central-local governance and their impact upon Australia, to be completed over 2013-2014 at Tsinghua University on a Prime Minister's Australia Asia Endeavour Award.

Neil has previously been a Chinese Government Scholar at Zhejiang University and Renmin University, and is an avid reader of Chinese language news and current affairs, recently writing and working for Danwei Media in Beijing. Neil is currently a research intern at the Peking University Australian Studies Centre, and has previous experience at China International Publishing Group, Geoff Raby & Associates, TransAsia Lawyers, and KPMG.

Neil is especially interested in Australia-China journalism and communications, being the inaugural National Publications Director of the Australia-China Youth Association, and founding Editor of the AustraliaBites and ChinaBites cultural newsletters, the ACYA Blog, and the bilingual and peer-reviewed ACYA Journal of Australia-China Affairs, co-published with the University of Sydney China Studies Centre. He was also a Delegate to the 2013 ANU Asia Pacific Week. Basically because of his love for reading and writing in the English language, Neil is a UWA Fogarty Scholar, WA Beazley Medallist, and prize-winner with the UWA Confucius Institute, Australian Institute of International Affairs, and UWA Arts Faculty.

Joel WING-LUN
黄智雄

Governance and Law Panel Coordinator

City of residence: Beijing

joel.wing-lun@acya.org.au

Joel Wing-Lun is a senior visiting student in the Department of Sociology at Peking University. Joel graduated from the University of Sydney in 2011 with first class honours and the university medal in Chinese Studies. He has since worked as a researcher and analyst at China Policy, Beijing, and the Lowy Institute for International Policy, as well as an intern and teaching assistant at the Peking University Australian Studies Centre. His writing on Chinese history, politics and society has been published in Asian Studies Review, The ACYA Journal of Australia-China Affairs, The Sydney Globalist, and on the Lowy Interpreter blog.

While at the University of Sydney, Joel was the recipient of the Winston G. Lewis Prize in Chinese History, the Gough Whitlam-Larry Kwok Australia-China Scholarship, the T.M. Hsiao Scholarship for Chinese Studies, and the Walter Reid Memorial Prize. He is also a 2012 alumnus of the University of Turin's ToChina Summer School. Joel served as Communications Director for the Australia-China Youth Association before joining the ACYD team in 2012.

Christiana LIANG
梁小艳

Communications
Coordinator

City of residence:
Shanghai

christiana.liang@acyd.org.au

LIANG Xiaoyan is a recent graduate of Shanghai International Studies University with a Master of Arts Degree in English and Intercultural Communication Studies. In addition to her role as the Protocol Director of 2012 ACYD, LIANG Xiaoyan is on the team of Media and Public Relations in China.

Her ties with ACYA started in 2010 when she participated in the Inaugural Australia China Youth Dialogue, the flagship youth event of ACYA, as one of the fifteen Chinese delegates. She benefitted immensely from the intercultural nature of this exciting event and later founded ACYA Shanghai Chapter which throughout the year 2011 organized various successful intercultural events aiming to promote cross cultural understanding between Australian and Chinese youth.

ACYD Team Profiles

Jacob TAYLOR
李杰

Dialogue Design and Innovation Manager /
Sports Panel Coordinator

City of residence:
Nanjing

jacob.taylor@acyd.org.au

Jacob Taylor has been lucky enough to combine a career in professional sport with his interests in China and academia. Jacob was a member of the Australian Sevens Rugby Team from 2009-2012, during which time he completed an Arts Languages degree at Sydney University, receiving the University Medal for his honours thesis in social anthropology entitled "Tackling Rugby in China". Jacob believes that cultural activities such as sport are crucial to improving cultural intelligence and inter-cultural transfer between Australia and China. In this same vein, in 2012 Jacob helped establish ACYA's Engaging China Project – a national platform for promoting China-literacy in Australian high schools.

Within academia, Jacob is fascinated by how the human body and mind play a central role in cultural, social, and political interactions, and is bound for Oxford University to pursue these questions as the 2013 NSW Rhodes Scholar-elect. In the meantime, Jacob has taken up the role of Head Coach of the Chinese Youth Rugby Sevens Team.

Jacob's focus on sport forms part of the ACYD's 360° approach to the Australia-China relationship. In addition, Jacob is responsible for driving ACYD design and innovation.

FENG Shenghao
冯晟昊

Climate Change Panel
Coordinator

City of residence:
Canberra

feng.shenghao@acyd.org.au

Feng Shenghao is a PhD (economics) candidate at the Crawford School of Public Policy of the Australian National University (ANU) and a visiting PhD student at the Centre of Policy Studies (CoPS) of the Monash University. He holds a Master in International and Development Economics and a Bachelor in Economics from the Crawford School and the London School of Economics, respectively.

Shenghao's PhD thesis is titled "The economics modelling of China's carbon dioxide mitigation policies – a computable general equilibrium analysis". This modelling practice evaluates the economic impacts of mitigation policies including carbon tax, cap and trade, coal-efficiency improvement and the structural rebalancing towards a domestic and consumption oriented economy. Apart from experts from the ANU and the CoPS, Shenghao also collaborates closely with researchers from the State Information Centre, National Development and Research Commission, China.

Shenghao worked as a research assistant on the World Bank report "Climate Change and Fiscal Policy – a Report for APEC". He worked in the capacity of analysing the pricing mechanisms for key energy products, namely coal, oil and gas in China. Shenghao is a tutor of the post-graduate level course "Mathematics for Economics" at the Crawford School. He also works as a self-employed translator who specializes in translating climate change related issues between English and Chinese.

Aside from academics, Shenghao is interested in history, politics, philosophy and sports. Shenghao was a delegate of ANU's Asia Pacific Week in 2010. He was also a winner of Canberra Football Association's 5-aside Indoor Soccer League, Division 4, 2009.

It is the passion that Shenghao felt as a 2012 ACYD delegate which is the biggest reason why he has joined the ACYD 2013 team.

Jakob MAYER
梅雅各

Defence and International Affairs
Panel Coordinator

City of residence:
Canberra

jakob.mayer@acyd.org.au

Jakob Mayer is a recipient of the Prime Minister's Australia Asia Endeavour Award and has completed double first class honours degrees in International Studies and Laws and Legal Practice from the Flinders University of South Australia. As part of his Award, in 2011, Jakob studied at East China Normal University in Shanghai. His areas of research are Chinese constitutional law and Australian foreign policy as it relates to the US-China relationship.

In addition to working for the Australian government in Canberra, Jakob is an Asia Literacy Ambassador with the Asia Education Foundation, working with Australian schools to explain the benefits of 'Asia Literacy' to young Australians.

As Defence and International Affairs Coordinator, Jakob is responsible for those aspects of the ACYD that focus on defence, international relations and global politics.

Christine CHRISTMAS

Communications
Coordinator
(Australia)

City of residence:
Canberra

christine.christmas@acyd.org.au

Christine Christmas is a graduate of the University of Technology, Sydney in Law and Business with a focus on international marketing in Asia. Christine is currently studying Economic Policy at the Australian National University (ANU) and currently works for the Federal Government in Canberra, which she joined in 2010. She has worked on Australia's contribution to the OECD Migration Outlook, implementing recommendations from the review of Commonwealth legal services, and client service strategy. Christine became involved in AYCD to deepen Australia's ties with China in the Asian Century.

Vincent HU
胡羽舟

Human Resources Intern

City of residence:
Canberra

t.hu@acyd.org.au

HU, Yuzhou (Vincent) is an undergraduate student studying a degree in Finance at the Australian National University. He is in his third year of studies, and expects to finish in mid-2014 with Honours.

Vincent has demonstrated a strong academic record at ANU, as evidenced by the Terrell International Student Scholarships, which awards top two international students university wide. His fine performance in finance courses also enables him to receive the CFAI Student Scholarships.

Vincent has a genuine interest in financial markets and the financial services industry. He started his personal investment portfolio (equity) two years ago, and with the help of the equity research process, he managed to obtain a return of approximately 15% per annum thus far. He has also completed two internships in the first and second year of university, one at the China Construction Bank (Shanghai) and the other at a boutique financial consulting/accounting services firm.

Additionally, he is actively involved in student societies and clubs. He is the Event Partner at the ANU Management Consulting Association (AMCA), cooperating with other functional teams to arrange venues, catering and logistics; as well as reporting events in the newsletters. He leads a team in a pro-bono consulting engagement between AMCA and the Australian-Indonesian Youth Association (AIYA), with the aim to formulate a consolidation strategy facilitating perpetual growth. He also serves as a secretary at the Golden Key Honours Society, a mentor at the sign-Mentor program, and has volunteered at several primary schools.

ACYD Team Profiles

Ann WANG
王琛

ACYD Alumni
Assoc. National
Coordinator (China)

City of residence:

Shanghai / Beijing

ann.wang@acyd.org.au

Ann is a founder and director of "We Impact". "We Impact", the first of its kind in China, is a social enterprise based in Beijing, whose mission is to develop and promote opportunities to realize sustainable lifestyles through the dissemination of knowledge, cultural engagement, and business and to facilitate a transition for interested parties including businesses, cultural institutions, NGOs, and government bodies towards becoming sustainable.

Before founding "We Impact", Ann was a Business Development Director of "P1. CN", an invitation-only social network for urban affluent Chinese. Prior to which she worked as the Strategic Development Director for the Beijing-based non-profit organization Golden Bridges, a nonprofit organization pioneering in social entrepreneurship and philanthropy between China and the US.

Ann sits on the board of a number of charity foundations in China, and in 2011 she represented Mr. Al Gore as a Chinese presenter for "The Climate Project". And in 2009, Ann was instrumental in initiating China's first Youth Delegation to the UN Climate Change Conference in Copenhagen.

She has undertaken studies at Cambridge University, Beijing Foreign Studies University as well as Beijing University. She is passionate about the environment, and "making the world a better place".

ZHOU Kang
周康

ACYD Logistics
Coordinator (China)

City of residence:
Beijing

Zhou Kang graduated from Peking University with an MBA. He has enthusiastically led and participated in Australian-Chinese engagement activities, including the Beijing Forecast, Australia-China Youth Association (ACYA), and Beijing Lifelight Blind Centre volunteer project, to further develop understanding and communication between young Chinese and Australians.

After completing his MBA, Zhou Kang threw himself into the internet and information technology venture sphere, devoting himself to creating a suitable ecosphere for China based entrepreneurs, and building a foundation for exchanges between domestic and foreign entrepreneurs.

Besides writing for technology blogs, he organises internet industry events. Zhou Kang is currently working for Amazon China, and is responsible for business development.

Social Media

During this year's dialogue, we aim to enrich the delegate experience by encouraging #conversations on a number of social media platforms.

In each session, there will be a live Twitter feed where you can tweet any questions related to the themes and issues raised by the panel speakers. Please use the hashtag #acyd2013. We aim for this Twitter feed to be interactive, so some of these tweeted questions will be posed to the panel speakers during the Q&A sessions.

However, the ACYD delegate experience is not just about the sessions you will participate in over the course of the dialogue, it is also about the friendships you form with other delegates. Please feel free to tweet your experiences outside of the dialogue sessions (photos, comments, etc) across the various social media platforms or on Twitter using the hashtag #acyd2013.

Please Note: as a delegate you are representing the Australia-China Youth Dialogue on these social media platforms, so please ensure that at all times your posts are cordial and respectful.

During the Canberra leg of the Dialogue, you will be able to access the internet through the Crawford School:

user: ACYD
password: ACYD2013

Note that usernames and passwords are case-sensitive.

Post Dialogue Deliverables

This year the ACYD institutes a new model for post-dialogue deliverables by allocating delegates into Working Groups to co-author high-quality articles and editorials based upon the themes of the 2013 ACYD Sessions. This will capture the value generated by discourse between the speakers and delegates at the dialogue, foster constructive collaboration amongst delegates, and augment the contribution of the ACYD to the Australia-China relationship.

The written pieces will then be published on high-quality and high-visibility platforms such as newspapers, industry journals, and influential academic blogs. For example, the ACYD already has media partnerships with the ABC, Xinhua, East Asia Forum, Lowy Institute, and Industry Magazine. This will provide ACYD delegates with the opportunity to voice their analysis, reflections, and suggestions regarding the Australia-China relationship to a wider audience and will be a key part of how the ACYD contributes to more constructive bilateral dialogue.

Alumni Association

The Australia-China Youth Dialogue Alumni Association was formed in 2012 to ensure that all participants who have attended the ACYD over the years will continue to benefit. It is designed to ensure that all participants can continue to meet together to discuss the challenges and opportunities for the Australia China relationship and further mutual understanding amongst the two nations.

Participating in the Alumni Association offers all alumni the opportunities to positively impact their community through implementing concepts explored during the ACYD. Additionally, the association provides a sustainable forum for alumni to network with each other, stay in contact with the ACYD organisers and work together to advance shared goals.

A formal alumni event will be organized in Melbourne, Sydney, Beijing and Shanghai annually and the Alumni Gala event will take place during ACYD in the country where the ACYD is held that year. Events are exclusively open to alumni from all years.

For more information on Australian-based ACYD Alumni events, please contact Fiona Lawrie, the ACYD Alumni National Coordinator (Australia), at fiona.lawrie@acyd.org.au

For Chinese-based events, please contact Ann Wang, the ACYD Alumni National Coordinator (China), at ann.wang@acyd.org.au

Figure 1 ACYD Australian Delegate Isabelle Kingshot, ACYD organiser Christiana Liang, ACYD Chinese Delegate Shen Ying

Figure 2 ACYD Delegates during the Environment and Energy Session at ANU, Canberra

Figure 3 ACYD Organisers

Figure 4 ACYD Australian Delegate Ed Cousins

Figure 5 ACYD Chinese Delegate Neroli Wang, Australian Delegate Alex Phealan, Chinese Delegate Lina Tao, Chinese Delegate Lennon Chang

Figure 6 Australian Delegates Veronica Walker and Sarah Stewart

Figure 7 The Governor General of Australia, Her Excellency Quentin Brice addresses ACYD at Government House

Figure 8 Josh Frydenberg MP, Andrew Leigh MP and ACYD Organiser Joel Wing-Lun

ACYD