2130 Partners Expands to the Pacific Northwest

Executive leadership firm opens regional offices in Greater Seattle

Issaquah, Wash., Dec. 12, 2006 – 2130 Partners, a leadership development firm, today announced the opening of a new office in the developing Seattle business community of Issaquah, Washington. Today's announcement marks the addition of a third regional office for the swiftly-growing firm.

2130 Partners has been conducting executive leadership programs in the region for some time through their affiliation with Vistage International (www.vistage.com), the world's largest CEO membership organization, as well as with their own client base operating in the area. The escalating level of activity clearly warranted the establishment of a regional office to support those efforts.

Having been a former resident of the Pacific Northwest, co-founder Dwight Frindt has maintained strong community ties in the region, making it the ideal next step for the firm's expansion. "We are very excited to officially become members of this fascinating community of eager and bold entrepreneurs," he said. "We recognize the vast potential of the business and social entrepreneurship exhibited in the region, and find it perfectly matched with our own philosophy of blending the successful generation of profits with the generation of social value."

The firm's clients credit 2130 Partners for impressive results for their companies on many levels. "We set out with a specific goal," said Mike Kiley, president of Chamberlain Group, a financial services firm. "We could triple our revenue this year, so from the financial perspective, we're having fairly dramatic results. From the human dimension, we're adding staff, doing a much better job getting them to understand what we're all about..."

Co-founders Dwight and Suzanne Frindt are business veterans with more than sixteen years of experience in developing leaders and their companies. With a solid background in business strategy and operations, Dwight has successfully guided owners, CEOs and their executives in a variety of industries. Suzanne is a popular speaker on leadership, and was recently drafted by the U.S. State Department as a presenter and facilitator for the 2006 Middle East and North Africa (MENA) Businesswomen's Summit in Abu Dhabi (State Department Taps OC Business Leader for MENA Businesswomen's Summit 2006 – <http://biz.yahoo.com/iw/061026/0177214.html>). Both are investors/activists for the Hunger Project, with an overarching focus on the development of women as leaders.
