JULIE EVANS PAINTER

Julie R. Evans is a native of California, currently living in Highland, and I has always lived in the Inland Empire. This is the third year we have enjoyed the artwork of Julie R. Evans at The Lake House First Friday event. She started oil painting 34 years ago, stating she has added watercolor, acrylic, and charcoal to her artist toolbox since. Sometimes, she explained, a subject just wants to be treated with a different medium to give the result and effects she is looking to bring out. Yet, she expressed her preference for oil paints over other mediums for most of her artwork. Julie Evans is recognized for painting realism. She uses both the standard paint brushes (making smooth, invisible brushwork or clearly defined strokes) as well as a palette knife (scooping up the paint quite thickly and carefully applying it to give the desired effect). A large percentage of her work is drawn from the natural world. She said, "I generally paint the quiet and still objects or landscapes as opposed to the populated, busy city scenes. The peaceful tranquility may be what excites me the most when I find my next subject for painting."

ALSO JUDITH HAFDAHL PAINTER, OIL

Judith Hafdahl came to fine art after years of working in both clothing design and interior design. Her paintings are shown in both galleries and interior design studios and include impressionistic, traditional, and abstracted work. Judith's paintings are held in collections, private and corporate, nation-wide. She lives in San Juan Capistrano, California with her husband, Rocky, and is a fifth generation Californian and visits our local Mountain areas often. Judith is a member of Oil Painters of America and is participating in the First Friday event for the first time this season.
