Words and music by Josh Bales ©2013 Bryan Days Music (ASCAP)

In Key of A, Capo 2 in G

G D G D G D G

1. I was surprised to see you in the store recently.

Em Bm C Em Bm C D

And after all this time the tears still welled up in my eyes.

G Em C D

(Chorus) I do forgive you with all that that means.

G Em C D

Though the wounds and scars you left still bleed.

G Em C D

And who can say if I'll ever forget.

G Em C D

All those things you did without regret.

C D C D G

But there's still forgiveness- sweet forgiveness, yet.

2. You don't know this but we've talked.

I've begged you for answers with no response.

And I've searched for peace. But in my heart I am not free.

(Bridge)

Em D/F# G G/B C

Some people say that forgiveness is the key

Em D/F# G G/B C D

It opens the door and sets you free.

(Final Chorus) I do forgive you with all that that means.

Though the wounds and scars you left still bleed.

And I will not live a life of regret

when I could live with love instead.

'Cause there's still forgiveness- sweet forgiveness, yet.
