CMC seeks comments in preparation for accreditation evaluation

Colorado Mountain College (CMC) is accepting feedback from the public about the college, in preparation for its periodic evaluation by the regional accrediting agency. A team representing the Higher Learning Commission of the North Central Association will visit the college April 2-4.

CMC has been accredited by the Higher Learning Commission since 1974. The team will review the institution's ongoing efforts to meet the commission's criteria.

The public is invited to submit comments regarding the college to: Third-Party Comment on Colorado Mountain College, The Higher Learning Commission, 230 South LaSalle Street, Suite 7-500, Chicago, IL 60604.

The public may also submit comments on the commission's website at www.ncalhc.org/Information-for-the-Public/third-party-comment.html.

Comments must address substantive matters related to the quality of the institution or its academic programs, and must be in writing. All comments must be received by March 5, 2014.

Dillon resident Rhonda Cratty writes new parent resource 'Learning at Home'

Rhonda Cratty, a second-home owner in Dillon, has penned a new book "Learning at Home," a parent resource with daily activities.

"Learning at Home" gives parents one idea a week to challenge and motivate children. The book has 48 total educational learning ideas that can take place around the kitchen table, in the backyard, on vacation or every day, using objects found around the home and books from any library. Filled with tips for family fun nights, holidays, trips and everyday ideas to raise lifelong learners, the book can work for multiple ages and needs. Also included are lists of family friendly books, recipes, homework help and games to extend learning.

Cratty includes her experience of 30 years of public school teaching and raising children of her own within the pages. "Learning at Home" is available in print, eBook form and through Amazon.com.

The Peak School to hold discussion on high school expansion

The Peak School will host a high school panel discussion for interested parents and students Tuesday, Feb. 18.

The talk, "Why Choose Peak for High School?" will run from 6:30 to 8 p.m. at 40 West Main St. in Frisco. The discussion will highlight opportunities at the Peak School for new high school students.

Topics include: Defining differences between private and public education in today's educational climate; College prep; Academic and athletic extra-curricular options; Preparing students for a global world; Growth and expansion at Peak specific to a high school campus; High school curriculum and design; and a Q&A with parents who currently have kids at Peak and at Summit Middle School.
