

GPX Global Systems, Inc. Maximizes Efficiency Worldwide with ProjectXnet Cloud Hosting Services

A Need for Greater Efficiency at Locations Around the World

GPX Global Systems, Inc. builds and operates private, carrier-neutral Internet Exchanges and Internet Data Centers in emerging commercial markets around the world. With offices in New York, Mumbai and Cairo, this rapidly-growing international company needed a way to keep all of its employees connected and working efficiently.

"We have approximately 40 employees, and many of them travel a lot and work from home," said John Joyner, Vice President of Facilities Development. "Between our offices in different parts of the world and our ongoing business efforts in developing countries, we want to make sure our systems are accessible worldwide."

The Solution: The Cram Group's ProjectXnet Cloud Hosting Services

In 2009, The Cram Group began hosting Meridan Systems' Prolog Manager and Prolog Converge for GPX Global Systems, Inc. This helped the company better manage construction of its data centers.

"My background is in construction management, and I've used Prolog for a number of years," Joyner said. "We wanted to run the construction of our data centers more efficiently, and ensure that our employees have access to our systems from anywhere in the world."

By using The Cram Group's ProjectXnet Cloud Hosting Services, GPX Global Systems, Inc. can better manage all aspects of its data center construction—including controlling project costs, reducing paperwork, increasing employee productivity, and providing real-time collaboration to geographically dispersed project teams.

“We didn't look at anyone else except The Cram Group for our hosting needs,” Joyner said. “We selected them because of their solid reputation in the Architecture Engineering and Construction (AEC) industry and their experience working with different types of companies and a variety of software systems.”

GPX Global Systems, Inc. appreciates the security, stability and support that The Cram Group provides. “We've been very pleased with the security and connectivity of our business applications,” Joyner said. “The Cram Group understands our need to work efficiently. It's great to know that we can get help when we need it, regardless of what time zone we're in.”

“As we continue to grow and move into other countries, we can easily add other business applications in the future,” Joyner said. “We plan to continue working with The Cram Group for our hosting needs.”
