TOSA READS A BOOK CALLED 'OVE'

By Nancy Hall

Tosa's All-City Read, for those unfamiliar with the event, invites city residents to join in reading a book together and then gather in February for discussion groups and other activities held throughout the city. This is the fourth year for the program, sponsored by the Wauwatosa Neighborhood Association Council, of which TETNA is a member.

This year's selection is "A Man Called Ove," by Swedish journalist and novelist Fredrik Backman. The titular hero, Ove, is the neighborhood curmudgeon.

A lonely, cranky middle-aged widower, he envisions a future devoid of purpose following the loss of his job. Resolved to end his bleak life, he finds his plans disrupted time and again by unexpected intrusions. Among them are his new neighbors, who are as messy and boisterous as he is tidy and constrained.

As the story evolves, Ove finds himself drawn into the lives both of his new neighbors and of others in his community whom he has shunned in the past. Most persistent in drawing Ove out of his self-imposed isolation are his new neighbor, Parvaneh, and a scruffy stray cat. While there is an undercurrent of sadness in Ove's story, the process of his gradual engagement with the world around him is often darkly comical, especially when Parvaneh is involved. Among the major themes of the book are issues related to aging, diversity, and community building.

Published in Sweden in 2013, the English language translation was released in the U.S. in 2014. The book was hugely popular in Sweden and has since become an international sensation, and it has been on the New York Times bestseller list for combined print and e-book fiction.

The book was adapted both into a play and a Swedish language film, which was released in the U.S. on Aug. 26. The film version of "A Man Called Ove" has been selected by the Swedish Film Institute to compete for a 2017 Oscar in the Best Foreign Language Film category.

"A Man Called Ove" is adult fiction, but suitable for readers ages 13 and older. There are copies of the book available through the Wauwatosa Public Library and through area and online booksellers. Check the Tosa's All-City Read website at tosasallcityread.com for more information, or visit the Facebook page.

VOLUNTEER AT THE POLLS ON ELECTION DAY

By Nancy Hall

The men and women who man the polls on election day are the people most voters associate with the election process. They are the most visible representatives of a complex network of individuals and agencies that work together to ensure fair, accessible and transparent elections.

Contrary to popular belief, poll workers are not volunteers. Regular Wauwatosa poll workers are paid $120 for the day and $15 to attend a training session, usually held the previous week. The work day begins at 6:15 a.m. and ends at approximately 9:00 p.m., when city workers come to pick up the ballots and election materials.

The duties of a typical poll worker will vary according to the needs of a particular ward or polling place. Responsibilities may include: logging the voter numbers of registered voters in the poll books, processing new voter registrations, assisting voters with casting their votes, and organizing lines for voting and registration. Ideally, each ward has a chief inspector to oversee the election workers and assist or fill in as needed.

While the work is often demanding, it may also be fun to spend a day interacting with the people who come in to vote and also getting to know fellow poll workers. The camaraderie is one of the reasons many poll workers return, election after election. People often bring snacks and coffee to help get the team through the long day. It is, in many ways, as much a social activity as it is a clerical responsibility. Attention to the data is critical, but the opportunity to spend the day greeting and assisting and socializing with others is one of the perks.

You must be 18 years old, a U.S. citizen and a resident of Wauwatosa to qualify to work at the polls. You will be given training by the city and you will also have ample opportunity to learn on the job. Please call the Clerk's Office for more information at 414-479-8919.

SUMMER NEIGHBORHOOD RECAP

Q & Brew smokes up good eats

By David Paulsen

The inaugural Q & Brew cookoff on July 3 was a big hit at Center St. Park. Though not a TETNA event, we support events like this that bring people out in the neighborhood and show why this is such a great place to live and play.

In addition to the pulled pork, BBQ chicken and ribs that the dozen or so contestants were cooking up (YUM!), the event also raised $1,550 for Friends of Center Street Park.

Q & Brew was the brainchild of Bobby Pantuso, Michael Phillips and Dave Wall, and they were pleased by the first-year turnout, selling their capacity tickets (180 adult and 50 children).

Some of the cooks even gave out TOO MUCH food (if that's even possible at a BBQ cookoff) and ran out before everyone got to taste all of the booths' offerings, but overall, there certainly was no shortage of food, fun and smiling faces.

The smokin' trio of organizers has already claimed July 2, 2017, for round 2, which they promise will be "bigger and badder."

RUMMAGE SALE

A big thanks to Beth Jaworski of Shorewest Realtors for sponsoring this year's neighborhood-wide rummage sale on June 4. We had great participation this year, with more than 50 houses registering to be listed among the sales.

TETNA BLOCK PARTY

This year's TETNA all-neighborhood block party brought plenty of fun to Center Street Park on Aug. 27 despite the day's off-and-on rain. Kids bounced in the bounce house, played yard games, had fun with temporary tattoos and sampled the picnic food for sale.

Turnout was down this year, partly because of the weather and partly because of the Roosevelt pool party going on at the same time.

The TETNA board decided to postpone the outdoor movie night until Oct. 22, when "The Sandlot" will be shown after the Friends of Center Street Park's Fall Fest.

Fall Fest returns to Center St. Park

By Cindy Anderson

The Friends of Center Street Park invite you to attend the Third Annual Fall Fest from 11 a.m. to 6 p.m. Saturday, Oct. 22, at the park.

Stop by to carve a pumpkin, make a scarecrow, play fall-themed games and enjoy live music by The Family Blend Band. Local Girl Scouts will be doing henna tattoos, and face painting will also be available.

You won't want to miss the afternoon's pumpkin chucking, sack races and apple eating contests.

It wouldn't be a festival without some delicious food. Enjoy a Press waffle, a taco from Tacos, Tacos, Tacos and other traditional favorites, including brats, hot dogs, pork sandwiches and caramel apples. Wash it all down, with cider, hot chocolate or Sprecher beer.

All event proceeds support the work that the Friends group is doing to improve the park. Many volunteers are needed to make the event a success. Go to signup.com/go/GX1Fak or centerstreetpark.com to sign up. This event would not be possible without the generous support of our sponsors: Waterstone Bank, Beth Jaworksi of Shorewest Realty, The Lutheran Home, Stantec and Tosa Insurance.

See the Friends of Center Street Park website at centerstreetpark.com for more details about the event, or stop by our Facebook page.

HELP DECIDE THE FUTURE OF OUR PARK'S PLAYGROUND

What does the future hold for Center Street Park? What's an ideal playground space look like for the park? What can be done to enhance the overall experience of its users?

The Center Street Park Committee was formed this summer to explore these questions and to work with Milwaukee County Parks, which oversees the grounds and structures, to create an attainable vision for the playground and the open spaces of the park.

A Community Visioning Session will be held at 3:30 p.m. on Saturday, Oct. 1 at Center Street Park to solicit ideas from neighbors and vested parties of the park. This will help guide the committee in formulating an overall plan, which later will be presented to the public for comment. Children are encouraged to attend with their parents or guardians. A special visioning session will be held just for them at the same time. Their input is important for this process too!

If you have questions or ideas for the committee or are interested in helping with the revitalization, please contact Elizabeth Preston at lizpreston210@gmail.com
