Hello Neighbors,

The October issue is always the best one to get on your doorstep. It means we're nearing our premier event for the neighborhood association, Nighttime Trick or Treat. I always love seeing the creative costumes our kids, and some of our parents, come up with each year. This event is a great time for us to get out and spend time together. It's like one big street party, WOW!

I love seeing how many houses get into the spirit too. I'm always surprised at the creative decorations displayed throughout the neighborhood in lead up to our special night. The generosity of our neighbors being prepared with overflowing bowls of treats for all our little munchkins is also a sight to see.

Big thanks to Jean Vallier and Erica Storm for stepping forward this year and volunteering to co-coordinate this event. It takes dedicated neighbors like them to help make events like these happen. Both Jean and Erica are new to volunteering with the neighborhood association and have jumped in, arms deep, to make this year's event a blast. Thanks are also due to the previous year's coordinators. They've gone above and beyond to transition all their knowledge and experience to Erica and Jean.

For those of you looking for a bit more of an adult social, consider joining us for our annual adult-only night out, Taste of East Tosa, at the Kneeland-Walker House. The setting is so beautiful and the company is even better. There's background music, great folks to chat with and a diverse sampling of table faire from different restaurants on our little section of North Avenue. Consider coming out for a great evening. I hope to see you there.

We've had such a great year of events.. I can't believe we've hosted the Easter egg hunt, the neighborhood rummage, the block party at Center Street Park, movie night in the park and still have more events coming this year. Thank you to all the volunteers who helped make it all happen.

We live in a great neighborhood here in East Tosa. Let's all continue to make it the best place to live in the Milwaukee area. Remember to meet your Neighborhood Watch block watch captain; get to know your neighbors and to report any suspicious activity to the Police department. It's up to us to all watch out for each other.

Kind Regards,

Tosa East Towne Neighborhood Association Philosophy

To provide a welcoming and nurturing environment, and to maintain the quality of life and the sense of community through shared interest and neighborhood interaction.

Little Free Libraries

By Renee Fensin

In the past few years, Little Free Libraries have popped up throughout the city offering books to the public. The mission of Little Free Libraries is to promote literacy and the love of reading by building free book exchanges. The Libraries are placed in yards and other public places. Neighbors are encouraged to browse the libraries for a book to read and to donate a book in return.

Inspired by this mission, Erik Brzezinski decided to build five Little Free Libraries and offer them to TETNA residents for his Eagle Scout project. He approached the TETNA board for assistance with this project and to help locate residents who would be interested in receiving a Library.

The TETNA board was impressed with Erik's presentation at the Annual Meeting. The board saw it as an opportunity to give back to the community at a grass roots level. The board also appreciated the community building that the Little Free Libraries brings to a neighborhood.

With the partnership in place, TETNA sought out current association members who would be interested in receiving a Little Free Library. The recipients had to meet certain criteria; they had to be the property owners, the block had to be easily accessible and actively walked and another Library could not be located on the same block. They also had to submit a 100 word description on why they wanted the library. The residents who responded offered such wonderful responses as wanting to promote literacy, sharing the magic of reading with others and connecting to the community through the Library.

Erik spent the summer obtaining materials through donations from Home Depot, funding from his troop and from TETNA. He then built five Little Free Libraries according to the prototype he presented at the TETNA annual meeting. Erik and his crew installed the Libraries during the Labor Day weekend.

The feedback from this partnership has been overwhelmingly positive. The recipients raved about how polite and professional Erik was. The community has embraced the Libraries as well. The homeowners shared their joy in seeing people borrowing from their new Libraries.

Friends of Center Street Park

Could our beloved Center Street Park use a little more love these days? Would you like to see inside the Pavilion? What about some updates?

The Friends of Center Street Park group is forming in order to address the issues of the park and to help it meet the needs of our neighborhood. Some of the items discussed were leveling the ball fields for kickball leagues, filling the divots in the field for the football/soccer practice, a picnic shelter, using the Pavilion for meetings and events, plantings and general beautification.

Please consider joining us and make our park a thriving abundant jewel in the neighborhood! Contact Sarah Hunt-Frank at slhuntfrank@gmail.com and join the Facebook group <https://www.facebook.com/groups/centerstreetpark> for more information.

Common Council Corner

By Joel Tilleson

5th District Alderperson

By the time you read this article, the Council will be in the midst of deliberating future development at UWM's Innovation Campus, which is located on the east side of Highway 45 just north of Froedtert & The Medical College. The history of this particular development – coupled with the fascinating history of this land – will undoubtedly play a large role in the Council's discussion.

On December 21, 2004, the Common Council adopted a master plan to guide development of the county-owned land east of Highway 45. The plan – referred to as the Kubala Washatko Plan after the architectural firm that designed it – sought to marry the need for economic development and expansion of the city's tax base with the desire to preserve as much of the prairie land as possible. The plan recommended 800,000 square feet of new development while simultaneously emphasizing that new construction utilize green technology and underground parking to create a sustainable business park with minimal environmental impact.

In 2009, the Milwaukee County Board and then-County Executive Scott Walker approved a $13.55 million sale of the 88.4 acres to UWM's Real Estate Foundation with the idea that the University, through private development, would create a campus that would merge institutional studies with real-world application. On May 4, 2010, the Wauwatosa Common Council approved UWM's planned development and the necessary changes to the city's Zoning Code to allow for this development to take place.

As you may have noticed, construction is already underway on a boulevard (aptly named "Discovery Parkway") and hiking/biking trails running north-south from Watertown Plank to Swan Boulevard. Construction is also underway on two buildings – the Accelerator Building, an academic building that will bring researchers, inventors, and developers together under one roof, and the regional headquarters of ABB (commonly thought of as the "Rockwell of Europe").

Two other developments have been proposed. One is a hotel, which, after debate by the Milwaukee County Board pertaining to wage standards, has been approved by the County and will soon be considered by the City. The other is a nearly 200 unit apartment village proposed by Mandel Group, which is being planned for the area around the historic and long-vacant Eschweiler buildings just south of Swan Boulevard. Mandel has proposed two options: 1) Save and restore four the Eschweiler buildings, contingent on the Forest Exploration Center charter school contributing to the rehabilitation through a fundraising drive, or 2) Restore the main Administration building only and tear the remaining buildings down for use as a public 'walled garden'.

While the concept of development on the county grounds has always been sensitive, the Mandel proposal has raised several unique considerations which the Council must carefully sort out. One issue the Council is closely watching is the Forest Exploration Center's desire to build a charter school in the Eschweiler buildings. If the FEC reaches their fundraising goal, they will be able to restore four of the Eschweiler buildings and locate their budding school to Innovation Campus. However, this scenario is complicated by the Wauwatosa School Board's concern that charter schools are a competitor capable of depriving the school district of needed funding.

Should the FEC not reach its fundraising goal, then the Council is faced with Mandel's proposal to raze all but one of the Eschweiler buildings. Mandel argues that despite his attempts to preserve all of the buildings, the harsh and deteriorating conditions of the buildings make it feasible to only preserve the Administration building, and that city assistance of $2.5 million is needed to assist with the preservation. This raises a myriad of issues including, but certainly not limited to, our adherence to the 2004 Kubala Washatko plan, the practicality of restoring the Eschweiler buildings, and the appropriateness of city assistance in this development.

While this particular issue may be past the Council by the time this newsletter goes to print, development at Innovation Campus is ongoing, and similar issues may surface again. As always, your feedback is important as the Council weighs complex issues. Please feel free to call or email me with your own thoughts and have a safe and enjoyable fall.

VOLUNTEERS MAKE THE NEIGHBORHOOD GO 'ROUND

Those of us living in Tosa East Towne know this is a special place. We are blessed with friendly neighbors and vibrant local businesses. The Tosa East Towne Neighborhood Association strives to represent the uniqueness of the neighborhood. One of the ways TETNA does this is by organizing events for the neighborhood to enjoy. However, the board cannot run these events alone, we need your help.

If you are very organized or love throwing parties, you can volunteer to chair an event. If you want to do something but don't have a lot of time, volunteer to help on the day of an event. Every little bit helps make these events something the neighborhood can be proud of. We are specifically in need of volunteers for the following events:

EGG HUNT CHAIRPERSON

The Spring Egg Hunt is a wonderful event for the littlest TETNA residents. The parents can relax and enjoy coffee while their children find the eggs and discover the treats hidden within. The chairperson would order the candy and trinkets for the eggs. He or she would collect eggs after the event and order more eggs if necessary. The chair would also coordinate the volunteers helping stuff and hide the eggs.

ADVERTISING SALES COORDINATOR NEEDED

In order to offset the printing costs of this newsletter, we rely on the support of local advertisers. We are looking for a volunteer to contact area businesses about advertising in the newsletter. You would also contact existing and past advertisers regarding contract renewal.

If you are interested in chairing or co-chairing an event, please fill out the volunteer form or contact Sarah Hunt-Frank at 526-6567 or slhuntfrank@gmail.com

RUN TOSA RUN CO-CHAIRS

Run Tosa Run was a popular event in 2012. We still get hits to our website from people looking for this event. We need enthusiastic people to help bring this event back better than ever in 2014. The co-chairs and their volunteers would work with city and police department to obtain the necessary permits for the event, obtain sponsors, get t-shirts and registration packets, advertise the event and perform other tasks as needed.

City Dog Life – Walking the Dog

By Laura Holder

A dog pulling on the leash is one of the most frequent reasons people sign up for dog training classes. A nice pleasant walk with your dog is something everyone wants to enjoy but is not always easy to accomplish. Learn how to make your stroll around the neighborhood fun and enjoyable on both ends of the leash.

Some people have questions on where your dog should be when you are walking. They have heard that dogs should not walk in front of you because it will make him think he is the pack leader. Do not fear, dogs do not worry about this. The point of a casual walk is for you and your dog to walk together without either one of you pulling the other.

Tip 1: Red Light/Green Light Dogs pull on their leash because it works. If your dog is pulling forward despite you pulling back, complaining and whatever else you might try, he thinks the pulling behavior is being reinforced. If you feel tension in the leash, the easy correction is to simply stop. This may make for some short and frustrating walks in the beginning but it will work. By the same token, make a promise to your dog that you will never pull him around either. If you are going to change directions or need him to move give him a heads up in advance.

Tip 2: Take a Tired Dog A tired dog tends to pull less on walks and does not get distracted as easily. Playing a 5 minute game, such as fetch or tug-o-war, before going on a walk can alleviate a lot of frustration.

Tip 3: Allow Your Dog to Sniff Stuff If you think about it, our city dogs live in a world that is very unnatural for them. They are subject to weird sights and sounds. They are at the mercy of our schedule, we feed them, play with them and take them out when we want to. A walk is much more than just a walk for your dog. It is their time to catch up with the world. They want to check their "pee-mail", dissect the new smells left by the overnight critters and investigate the freshly cut grass. Allowing your dog to sniff on their walks is imperative to their mental well-being. Dogs need the opportunity to use their incredible noses and check out what has been happening around the neighborhood, give them that chance a few times during your walk.

Bonus Tip: Proper Equipment If you are going to stop pulling completely, you may need some extra help in the beginning. Employ the use of a front clip harness as a management tool. The front-clip harness attaches the leash to the front part of your dog's chest rather than on top of their back. This will help in avoid triggering your dog's opposition reflex.

Laura Holder, BFA, CPDT-KA is a TETNA resident and Certified Professional Dog Trainer – Knowledge Assessed with BehaviorWorks Dog Training & Behavior Specialists (www.behavior-works.com) She can be contacted at laura@behavior-works.com with questions about general dog training or problem behaviors.

Rules to Remember

Featured Group – TETNA Craft Club

When Julie Abraham moved to the neighborhood, she saw the information on TETNA groups. Interested, she contacted Sarah Hunt-Frank, the groups coordinator, to see if TETNA had an existing craft group. There were several people interested but no one had organized a group.

Julie decided to take charge. She organized a meeting at a local restaurant and advertised it on TETNA's Facebook page. After that meeting, the group was off and running. Approximately five people attend the Craft Club's monthly meetings. You can find them at one of our local establishments working on crafts such as drawing, knitting or loom jewelry. If you love to craft, consider joining the group at their next meeting. Contact Julie Abraham at abraja20@hotmail.com.

If you are interested in starting a group or joining an existing group, please contact Sarah Hunt-Frank at slhuntfrank@gmail.com or filling out the form below.
