

"Choose Me"
Ann and Eve

ANN

Eve, are you alright?

EVE

Fine, thanks, just thirsty.

ANN

I heard your car arrive, I hope you don't mind I couldn't sleep.
I was hoping we could talk.

EVE

I don't much feel like talking.

ANN

I understand, maybe you'll listen.

EVE

Listening I can do, Ann.

ANN

Well, you really don't know that much about me, Eve. For instance, my name isn't Ann. And, I have lived with people before but it was always, well, like, like research....

EVE

Maybe I should listen to this in the morning. I've had a rough night.

ANN

Oh, it shouldn't wait until morning. It concerns Mickey. And,
I wanna clear that up.

EVE

Mickey? What do you know about Mickey?

ANN

Well, he was over here today,
looking for you.

EVE

What?

ANN

Uh, I'm a very complicated person, Eve. Not all of which I can explain to you now.

EVE

Look, I don't wanna hear about any of this Ann, or whatever you name is. I don't think I can take it.

ANN

Now, Mickey said that you two had just met each other. I know that that played an important part in my behavior.

EVE

Look, I don't even know this man.

ANN

Well, from my point of view, I am sure that it is just sexual. I mean I've been with men before, but it was always some sort of planned event. I mean, no matter how attached I'd become to a man, sex, I was always more interested in the person who owned it. But, this is new for me. This is a major breakthrough. From Mickey, I learned that perhaps when a man enters your life through sex, it might just be as good as a way as any. Isn't that marvelous? All along, I'm thinking it's the wine. And, Eve, seeing how you admit that you really don't know him all that well, well, I'm wondering if we might share him.

EVE

Are you telling me that Mickey found out where I lived and that he came here and that you were home and that you fucked him?

ANN

(nods yes)

(Eve slaps Ann)

He said you barely knew each other, Eve, you just said that yourself. He was quite taken with me. As a matter of fact, as strange as it sounds, he asked me to marry him. Now it was amusing, but most interesting, at least part of it was serious, and I got excited, I admit it. You would have done the same Eve. For a while, I thought it was simple sensual pleasure.

I mean, I even said that on the rad...I mean at work this afternoon, but now it has evolved even further. It is all very exciting, because, it will have a tremendous impact on a great number of people, but I don't want to get into all this. Eve, I'm sorry about it. But, knowing all the facts and all of the circumstances, I don't think I did anything all that wrong. After all, it's not as if you owned the man.

EVE

No, I don't own him, I don't own any man and I never have and no man owns me. I just think - I wanted to own this house. No, I don't care, why don't you keep it?
You seem to be much more comfortable here than I do. Why don't you just keep the house and all of the men I've collected?

ANN

Eve, Eve, you're not listening
Eve. I just want to help.