GAVIN

Okay, I'll try to reach Paul.

EVA

No. Adam just stepped away from his desk. Can I help you?

GAVIN

Yes. Tell Adam I want to do this. But we have a couple of important questions.

EVA

Yes, okay. I'll set something up. I have your number here. Let me get right back to you...

Eva hangs up, suddenly has a second lease on life.

EVA (CONT'D)

Okay, we can do this. We have to do this. How we going to do this?

Eva looks at her watch, moves O.S.

INT. FUGATE AND TOWNE LAW LIBRARY - DAY

Grace clerks at this downtown law firm and is in the library researching when Eva sits down across from her. Grace slams her book, backs away.

GRACE

How did you find me--?

> EVA

Ask me who the first girl I kissed was?

GRACE

I called the cops, they filed a report.

> EVA

Ask me who the first girl I kissed was.

Eva said it loud enough to turn heads.

GRACE

Who was the first girl--?

> EVA

You. Camp Golden Arrow, we were ten.

Rattled, Grace stands to leave, but Eva grabs her by the arm and pulls her back in the chair--hard. A LIBRARIAN notices.

> EVA (CONT'D)

I wasn't a girl then. I was Adam.

GRACE

Let me go--

> EVA

You were born in Modesto on the Fourth of July, you have two webbed toes and are allergic to nuts. You lost your virginity at seventeen to a boy named Jason Kemper--

GRACE

(hurt)

You know about Jason Kemper?

> EVA

You keep single malt scotch for me in the cupboard over your microwave and I lied, I lost the Netflix you lent me.

SECURITY GUARD

(to Eva)

Ma'am, you're going to have to leave.

The Librarian is next to a beefy SECURITY GUARD.

GRACE

Adam told a one-night-stand slut about me losing it with Jason Kemper?

> EVA

I object to the term 'one-night-stand.' And even if I was a one-night-stand you know Adam as well as I do. He would be far too busy talking about himself to ever get around to you.

SECURITY GUARD

Ma'am--

The Guard tugs Eva's arm, she yanks it away.

> EVA

You really want a piece of me?

SECURITY GUARD

Depends what piece you want to break off, baby.

And Eva pushes him--the Guard grabs her, he's strong, leads her out. She struggles as they move out to--

EXT. FUGATE AND TOWNE LAW FIRM - DAY

The Security Guard pushes Eva outside, then stands in front of the door, arms folded.

> EVA

When I get my balls back, I'll-- he'll--you'll--Dammit.

Eva kicks a trash can, starts to walk away. From behind her:

GRACE

What did Jason Kemper say?

Eva stops, chest heaving, looks back at Grace.

GRACE (CONT'D)

That night, after we had sex...Jason said something that I only told Adam...

Eva knows she has to stick this.

> EVA

You wanted Jason to re-assure you that you weren't going to get pregnant. You were just seventeen and scared. And he looked up at the stars and said 'I can't remember if our school mascot was a cricket or a spider.' And you said from then on, no more dumb guys...

Grace thaws at the memory, looks at Eva differently.

GRACE

What in the hell happened? Are you dead? Did you re-incarnate?

Relieved to have a friend, Eva pulls Grace into her arms.

> EVA

I don't know why this happened to me or how. I can only hope it doesn't last long.

GRACE

(uh-oh)
The fortune cookie.
