Profile

Kristen Bonk, PT, DPT has been practicing out patient orthopedics since her graduation from Bradley University in 2012. Kristen returned to Chicago to work as a therapist as she was born and raised in the suburbs. She has also worked in an acute care setting, enabling her an insider's view on post-surgical care.

Kristen enjoys working in an out patient setting due to the variety of challenging diagnoses she is able to treat. Kristen uses evidence based treatments and is in the process of obtaining a certification as an Orthopedic Manual Therapist.

Kristen has a background in softball and enjoys traveling. She completed her undergraduate degree at Bradley University with a bachelors in Health Science and a minor in biology.
