Profile

Molli Beard, PT, DPT is a graduate of Rosalind Franklin University, having earned her doctorate in Physical Therapy. She enjoys the collaborative care model which IBJI strives to provide, and collaborates with IBJI physicians to provide the finest patient care possible.

Molli enjoys treating a wide variety of diagnoses and strives to use evidence based patient care to provide the most beneficial and efficient treatments to allow patients to achieve full recovery. Her undergraduate studies in exercise science provide her with a solid foundation of human movement and complement returning competitive and recreational athletes back to sports quickly. Molli is a member of the APTA sports physical therapy section and is a certified emergency medical responder. She played D1 collegiate soccer and continues to coach and work with a nationally recognized local club to help with injury prevention and athletic performance enhancement. As a former Division I collegiate athlete she can draw on previous experiences for rehabbing athletes and getting them back to sport quickly. Molli plans to pursue a sports clinical specialty and will begin a certification program this summer.

During her spare time Molli enjoys staying active, both playing and coaching soccer. Molli is a native of the Libertyville area and has remained involved in the community.
