One the side (what do you do in your “free” time): I’m very involved with a school for orphans in rural Kenya that I helped to start while living there in 2008-2009. Today, we support more than 200 orphans and vulnerable children from preschool through 8th grade, providing them with a nurturing home, food, medical care, and one of the best academic programs available in the region. I’m especially grateful for the support of many members of the Sacramento Jewish community.
