STATEMENT

Conaway is a costume designer, fashion historian, and costume simulation specialist living in southern California. Although she works primarily in historical and dramatic film, she also consults for major animation and gaming studios. Conaway is faculty at Art Center College of Design in Pasadena, CA. Her course, History of Fashion, is the first of its kind. Geared directly towards entertainment design students, the class explores building cultures for film, television, and gaming through the lens of clothing culture. She has lectured on the relationship between fear and fashion at DreamWorks Animation, and is also being published for the first time with Design Studio Press, the world's leading entertainment arts publisher on the subject of culture building.
