

<http://www.dailytidings.com/opinion/20161011/letters-to-editor-oct-11>

Remove corporate greed

Letter to Ashland Daily Tidings
by Brenda Gould, Ashland

Oct. 11, 2016

From a Harrop's Aug. 30 column, "EpiPen fiasco shows Congress' true colors," is correct in condemning Congress' failure to regulate drug companies and scoffing at Mylan's CEO's comment, "Look, no one is more frustrated than me."

EpiPen opens the conversation about drug company greed. We need to get corporate greed out of the health care industry — pharmaceuticals, medical treatment and hospital care.

Single-payer is the solution and is one of the health care financing systems now being researched by the Rand Corporation under a study commissioned by the Oregon Legislature. Congress has always refused to allow testimony on single-payer but Oregon is open the idea. The study should identify the best health care financing system for Oregonians. Ashland voters: vote for Measure 15-154, urging the Legislature to implement the health care study recommendations.