

International Meeting for Autism Research Preconference

Researchers from around the world are gathering in Atlanta in May for the International Meeting for Autism Research. Please join us the day prior to the conference for an opportunity to learn from some of the most notable scientists in the field and exchange ideas on topics related to autism research and application. This is a rapidly changing field, and we want you to be a part of it.

Who should attend?

We invite educators, relevant governmental agency employees, clinical providers, families and adults with autism to join the preconference. The event is free.

When?

May 14
10 a.m. to 4 p.m.
Registration begins at 8 a.m.
