

DECORLIST: TINA RAMCHANDANI OF LIFE IN SKETCH

Swoon-Worthy From This Creative Blogger

Tina is the principal interior designer of her firm Tina Ramchandani Creative, a Manhattan-based interior design firm founded on functionality and fueled by aesthetic drive. She is also the editor of Life in Sketch, an internationally recognized interior design blog where she shares what inspires her in the world of design at large. Here is what Tina had to say about her picks:

LOVE: The Easy Chair is a classic piece and although it was designed in the 50's it looks timeless! I love specifying it for clients, it gets a lot of love.

LUST: The gold combined with the stunning etched details on these candle holders make me swoon! I am dying to place these on my coffee table.

NEED: At first glance this appears to be a simple black lamp but when you take a closer look you notice that the shade is a bit graphic, due to the fabric box pleats, and it's a bit luxurious due to the hint of gold in the reflector. Stunning.

WANT: I'm a neutrals girl and this piece has the lovely neutral colors I adore and a bit of pattern as well. I have to have it!

Thank you Tina. We love-lust-need-want all of your picks too. Check out her blog for more information!
