

How Students Can Live It Out

We want to show that we love God and others. So let's live it out.

Live it out in generosity.

During April, we're giving every student a water bottle as a reminder to show God's love to others in practical ways. After all, what could be more practical than quenching someone's thirst? Spiritually speaking, we know that Jesus is the source of Living Water for us, and for our friends and neighbors.

We're asking every student who takes a water bottle to use it as a bank to collect a special offering for our Live It Out initiative.

You can get creative in how you come up with money for your offering. Here are some ideas:

- Set aside 10% or even 20% from any money you earn or receive.
- Offer to do some extra work to earn extra.
- Give up something that normally costs you money — maybe Starbucks or iTunes — and give that money instead.
- Collect spare change.

Some of our offering money will be for outreach projects in our mountain community. We will be learning more about these in the weeks and months ahead.

And, some of the money will be spent on new carpet and chairs for our Student Center, to make this a more welcoming space for us to get together and bring our friends.

Bring your offering for our Commitment Weekend, April 23/24. After the offering, you get to keep the water bottle.

Live it out in service.

There are many different ways that you can live it out by serving God and others. Later this month, we will be providing a Student Ministry Menu so you can pray and choose what you will do. We'll remind you to bring your menu to our Commitment Weekend, April 23/24.
