- Education of the public to appreciate and to preserve plant life.
- Sponsorship of research and publications on plant life.
- Sponsorship of legislation to promote the preservation of Michigan native flora.
- Establishment of suitable sanctuaries and natural areas.
- Cooperation in programs concerned with the use and conservation of all natural resources and scenic features.

ACTIVITIES

Conservation of Native Plants

The Michigan Botanical Club has a number of conservation projects and cooperates with other conservation agencies to protect native plants and natural areas in the state and nationally.

Education

Chapter activities include general meetings with illustrated lectures open to the public and field trips to areas of botanical interest. The Michigan Botanical Club sponsors two major statewide meetings each year: an Annual Foray usually on Memorial Day Weekend to a region of botanical interest and an Annual Meeting with a botanical program and field trip usually held in the Fall. Students may apply for Foray scholarships through chapters. Sometimes mini-forays are held later in the growing season.

Legislation

The Club has been proactive in protecting native plants and their habitats, for example testified in 2013-2014 opposing S.B. 78, the state legislature's anti-biodiversity bill. MBC urged the passage of Michigan Wildflower Protection Act, (P. A. 115/1943), to regulate the cutting, removal, transportation, and sale of specified native plants vulnerable to exploitation. A proposal sponsored by the Michigan Botanical Club to declare the dwarf lake iris, Iris lacustris, as Michigan's official state wildflower passed (P. A. 454/1998).

Big Trees Project

Launched in 1957 by Paul Thompson as part of the American Forestry Association national survey, the Club maintains a database of Michigan's big trees, see michbotclub.org. Big tree information is published in The Great Lakes Botanist (formerly The Michigan Botanist). Those interested in nominating a Michigan Big Tree or have questions may contact:

Publications

Chapter newsletters, e-notices and website michbotclub.org inform members of meetings, field trips, and other items of interest.

Our state newsletter, Arisaema, published spring and fall, informs members of state activities, such as the Memorial Day Weekend Foray, the Fall Meeting, projects, chapter reports, and articles of general interest. Occasionally, special publications are issued, e.g. the Winter Wildflowers booklet.

The Michigan Botanist, published since 1962, has been renamed The Great Lakes Botanist as of January 1, 2017. It will continue to be devoted to all aspects of plant life in the Great Lakes Region, but now will publish papers from throughout North America north of Mexico. Supported by dues and subscriptions, all members receive this quarterly journal. Those interested in publishing in The Great Lakes Botanist should contact the Editor.
