

Interim Regional Connection Minister

The Christian Church (Disciples of Christ) in the Southwest is seeking a interim, part-time connectional minister to provide ministerial care for clergy and congregations in the Northeast Area of the region. This position will be an employee of the CCSW working in partnership with and accountable to the Regional Minister and the Personnel Committee.

This position requires an engaging person of faith, strong relational skills, active listening skills, and a love for the Christian Church and its covenantal understanding of ministry. The position requires the ability to be a “voice” for the region as we transition into the new structure.

A candidate must be either an ordained clergy or a commissioned minister with standing.

The basic functions of this position include the following:

- Develop a relationship with local congregations.
- Provide search and call for congregations as needed.
- Interpret the vision of the new regional structure.
- Respond to clergy and congregation concerns.
- Work as an interface to provide resources as needed for congregations.
- Serve as regional staff with Northeast Area board.

Inquiries and applications for the position are to be directed to the Interim Regional Minister:
