CHRIS FROST Mutation

For Mutation, Chris Frost has created sculptures based on an exploration of traditional Chinese Scholar's Rocks. Scholar's Rocks are elaborate naturally formed stones and are viewed as reflections of the natural world: contemplative and balanced. Frost's pieces emerge from these aesthetics and infuse characteristics of contemporary environments. With color, text, scale and a myriad of material clashing together, these artworks are the ancient and the current bumping and bursting, mashed into one.

Chris Frost is an artist living and working in Somerville, MA.

Mutation will be showing concurrently with the sculpture of Laura Evans.
