Case Highlight on Pangea Client, Ricardo: Released from Detention After 9 Months Reunites with wife and U.S. citizen daughter in San Francisco

Pangea’s client, Ricardo, was detained in Texas after fleeing politically motivated beatings, threats, assaults, robberies, and a shooting in Guatemala. He fled with his wife, and their U.S. citizen daughter in January 2014. Pangea successfully represented Ricardo’s wife, who was detained for about one month, and released after Pangea obtained a low bond for her. Ricardo remained in detention.
The community, led by our partner, Lorena Melgarejo, hosted three vigils, flew Ricardo's wife and daughter to Texas to visit him, and tried every angle to lift up the humanity of this family.

On the legal end, Pangea's attorneys made many dozens of calls to various agencies. Pangea also prepared and filed applications for withholding of removal, U Visa, and other forms of discretionary and administrative relief.

Pangea's efforts with our faith-based partners culminated in Ricardo's release after more than 9 months in detention. On October 17, 2014, Ricardo joined us in San Francisco. Click here to read more about Ricardo's story.

9 Months Later
Ricardo reunites with his wife and daughter after 9 months of detention, and after fleeing severe harm in Guatemala.

Ricardo and his attorney, Marie Vincent, met for the first time after 9 months of representation and communication by phone while Ricardo was detained.

Local Policy Advocacy Highlight:
Ordinance to Fund Legal Services for Children & Families in Removal Proceedings

SF Supervisor Campos presented certificates of honor to 4x Pangea clients, children, who testified at the Board of Supervisors hearing.

On September 16, 2014, the City of San Francisco's Board of Supervisors unanimously voted in support of a funding proposal to provide legal services for children and their families in removal proceedings. Pangea was among many groups that advocated for this ordinance that led the City of San Francisco to fund $2.1 million over the course of 2 years to provide access to counsel to children and their families in removal proceedings.

Pangea helped lift up the voices of the children directly by bringing them and their families to City Hall, encouraging them to speak from their hearts, and share their stories about their needs for safety and protection in the United States.

Pangea also advocated with the American Bar Association (ABA) to request a letter of support, that supported the Board of Supervisors in their decision to vote in favor of the access to counsel ordinance for the children.
National Policy Advocacy

This was a particularly active quarter for Pangea in advocating for immigrant friendly policies and pushing back against hostile ones.

The Obama Administration’s response to the humanitarian crisis in Central America has been to expedite court proceedings for children and their families, with the intent speed up deportations. As a result of the expedited deportation policy (also symbolically known as the "Rocket Docket"), we organized a march to protest this federal policy in late September.

Together with our coalition, SF Bay for Immigrant Justice (SFBay4IJ), Pangea spoke at the march and demanded an end to the Rocket Docket.
In early September, Pangea spoke at a rally organized by Mujeres Unidas y Activas, requesting administrative relief for all immigrants in the United States. The Obama Administration has pushed back on his word to take executive action on immigration reform issues, but the community has spoken and will continue to speak up to hold our leaders accountable for ensuring basic human rights.

Special Gratitude: Juan & Francisca

"Last year we were worried about Juan's deportation [...] we were lost. We are grateful because you fought for our case and we achieved what we wanted." - Francisca
Francisca is a Pangea client whose approval notice for her refugee relative petition arrived this quarter and whose husband's asylum case Pangea won earlier this year. We are grateful for community members like Francisca and her husband, Juan, for inspiring us and warming our office with kindness and love.

We envision a world where the fundamental right to move is respected and appreciated by all. Our view is that all human beings are entitled to respect, documents, and a process through which to move, settle, and resettle in the world.
