(OFOU) Barbie “Video Girl” a Possible Child Pornography Production Method

(1) Beginning in July 2010, Mattel is now selling Barbie Video Girl, a doll with a built-in hidden camera. The doll conceals the lens of the camera in a necklace as the front, and has a small LCD screen for video display in her back. The doll can capture thirty minutes of footage, and the videos are downloadable to a computer through a miniUSB port and cable.

(2) Proprietary video editing software is not required, and the videos can be copied to a computer. Additionally, you can stream from Video Girl live to your computer using “computer mode,” but there is currently not yet any
