Career expert & certified interview coach:
HOW TO USE YOUR DATING SKILLS TO SCORE YOUR DREAM JOB

Dom Bokich is a career expert and certified interview coach who hires several people every week. With 12 years of experience in human resource recruiting and interviewing, he knows what it takes for an interviewee to land their dream job and his advice might shock you: approach an interview like you would a romantic date. In his provocative new book, Your Dream Job: Use Dating Secrets to Get Hired and Build a Career You Love, Bokich outlines the fundamental similarities between the job search and dating.

“There are many similarities between dating, relationships, and surprisingly, your job search,” Bokich explains. “Your friends can set you up or you look for your perfect match online. Once you find that ‘special someone’ you’ll need a good icebreaker. You dress up and tell your best stories. You take interest in them and ask good questions. At the end, you thank them for a wonderful time.”

In an insightful and timely interview, Bokich—who has shared his expertise in/on on CBS, FOX, The CW, Men’s Health, The Huffington Post, and PARADE—can discuss:

- How to appear irresistible to your dream employer
- 3 ways to get noticed fast using social media: LinkedIn, Facebook, and Twitter
- Advice to new grads who are having trouble finding full-time jobs
- Why hiring managers act like supermodels
- Inspiring success stories of job seekers, including new grads
- Funny mistakes applicants have made, so you won't embarrass yourself
