Your Dream Job:
Use Dating Secrets to Get Hired and Build a Career You Love*
by Dom Bokich

NEW BOOK EXPLAINS HOW TO USE DATING SECRETS TO SCORE YOUR DREAM JOB

You look for your perfect match online or a friend sets you up. Once you find that “special someone” you’ll need a good icebreaker. You dress up and tell your best stories. You take interest in them and ask good questions. At the end, you thank them for a wonderful time. Are you dating your dream mate or interviewing for your dream job? It turns out, the skills you need to succeed in the dating game are the same skills you’ll need to succeed in an interview for your dream job.

In his provocative new book, Your Dream Job: Use Dating Secrets to Get Hired and Build a Career You Love, career expert and certified interview coach Dom Bokich outlines the fundamental similarities between the job search and dating.

Your Dream Job is an entertaining, educational, and provocative job-hunting guide that takes readers step-by-step through the job-search process, from an interviewer’s perspective.

Through the pages of his book, Bokich teaches readers:

- How to appear irresistible to your dream employer with a knockout resume and cover letter
- 3 ways to get noticed fast using social media: LinkedIn, Facebook, and Twitter
- Why hiring managers act like unapproachable and intimidating supermodels
- Inspiring success stories of job seekers, including new grads
- Funny mistakes applicants have made, so you won't embarrass yourself
- The Interview Wingman Cheat Sheet Method
- How to round the interview “bases” like a pro

“3 to 4 million people are hired each month and on average 6,000 people retire each day,” Bokich explains. “That amounts to 2 million people retiring a year. Someone has to replace these retirees and following the instruction in my book will make any job seeker a top candidate for their ideal job.”

Dom Bokich is a Senior Recruiter for a 14,000-employee university medical center in California. He is a certified interview coach with 12 years of experience and has taught behavioral and values based interviewing to 300+ hiring managers. Bokich hires several people a week, from interns and new grads to experienced professionals. He has been featured as an expert on/in CBS, FOX, The CW, Men’s Health, The Huffington Post, and PARADE. Your Dream Job is his second book. When he’s not working, you can find him surfing or riding his motorcycle along the California coast.
