

Ark of Taste Nomination Form

Thousands of fruits, vegetables, animal breeds, cheeses, cured meats, breads and sweets are disappearing. When they are lost, we also lose knowledge and culture. This shared heritage of biodiversity must be preserved. Slow Food is collecting these disappearing flavors within the global catalogue of the Ark of Taste.

You can help us too by telling us what product you want to save!

Nominating a product is easy and anyone can do it following a few simple criteria

- The nominated product can be a fruit or vegetable variety or a native livestock breed, a wild species (but only if connected to a traditional harvesting method, transformed product or usage) or a processed product (such as a cheese, cured meat, bread, sweet, etc.)
- It should be of distinctive quality
- It should be connected to the territory, the memory, and the identity of a community and local, traditional know-how
- It should be produced in limited quantities
- It should be at risk of extinction, or it needs to be promoted to be saved in the future
