

Dossier/Bio
Silvia De Freitas

Silvia, born in Caracas, Venezuela, graduated with honors from Mayré Martínez Singing Academy at age 15 and has taken courses in Berklee Music Online and several singing academies in Caracas and Mexico City. She joined Mayré Martínez as a backup singer opening for Marc Anthony in Caracas (2006).

In 2007, she participates in Latin American Idol, finishing 5th finalist among thousands of singers. After this, she takes part in the “Concierto de La Solidaridad” in Guatemala with other Latin American Idol finalists. In 2012, she becomes a backup singer for mexican artist, Edith Márquez in her mexican tour.

Presently, she is the lead singer and composer for QN, a Pop Fusion duo based in Mexico City. She sings in several cover bands and is also a teacher and vocal coach. Silvia enjoys yoga, meditation and trekking.

www.quebradanorte.com

@sildefreitas

