

HOLIDAY UNPLUGGED

Located on a sand dune on the unspoiled Tanjung Ringgit peninsula in southeast Lombok, Jeeva Beloam Beach Camp is one resort where you can be sure you're virtually uncontactable. For a start, there's no Internet or phone service, and with only 11 luxury villas on the property, it's not uncommon for guests to have the entire beach to themselves – the perfect hideout from the madding crowd. ## All ahoy!

If you're looking to hit a path less travelled, check out Myanmar sailing specialists Burma Boating, which organises trips to the region on board the 85ft luxury yacht Meta IV. From May to September, the company is offering a Spice Route Adventure, which explores the ancient trade routes plied by merchants and adventurers of yore. Starting from Myanmar, the journey will give holidaymakers the opportunity to explore ancient port towns, world heritage sites as well as the world's oldest rainforest. ## Say cheese

Polaroid has updated its iconic camera for the Gen Y, and judging from the rave reviews at top consumer electronics tradeshow CES 2014, it looks set to be one of this year's must-haves. What sets the 14-megapixel camera apart from its predecessors is its built-in Wi-Fi, which lets you share your photos on major social media platforms. You can also print photos that double up as stickers, even edit your shots before you hit the print button. polaroid.com/socialmatic

WASTE NOT, WANT NOT

Did you know that your gadget continues to draw energy from its power source even when fully charged? That's a lot of energy wasted, while the excess electrical charge reduces the performance of your device's battery over time. Solving this problem is the Powerslayer, a handy portable gadget that lets you charge USB devices such as smartphones and tablets. The Powerslayer automatically cuts off the energy supply to your device once it's fully charged, even as it remains plugged into the socket.
