REMARKABLE WINES
FROM THE CENTRAL COAST
OF CALIFORNIA & BEYOND

FIELD RECORDINGS

THE STORY

Field Recordings is 33-year old winemaker Andrew Jones' personal catalog of the people and places he values most. Spending his days as a vine nurseryman, planning and planting vineyards for farmers all over California, Andrew is sometimes offered small lots of their best fruit on the side. Having stood in just about every vineyard on the Central Coast, he has a keen eye for diamonds in the rough: sites that are unknown or under-appreciated but hold enormous untapped potential. As friendships are made and opportunities are embraced, Andrew produces small quantities of soulful wine from these unusual, quiet vineyards.

WHITCRAFT

THE STORY

Whitcraft Winery, founded in 1985, has always stood by the idea that great wine making is less about making wine and more about shepherding wine. The idea that one cannot improve on Mother Nature's gift, they can merely guide it towards what is a pure expression of place, vintage, and terroir; and less an expression of one's personal desires. To truly express terroir one must accept where they are, and try to make the best expression of THAT place. That being said, the techniques mirror Old World Burgundian Technique, which is about expressing terroir. Pinot and Chardonnay are the focus.

TATOMER

THE STORY

"No other grape conveys its region's character and varietal flavor with the power, focus, and beauty the way Riesling does. California's coastal regions are cool enough for this grape variety. In 2003, I packed my bags and moved to Austria to try to get a better grip on the growing and making of Riesling. I was able to find work with Weingut Knoll who, more importantly, have become a second family to me. What initially was planned to be a ten-week trip; turned into a year and two additional harvests. In 2008 I founded Tatomer with two Riesling vineyards. My intention was to use my knowledge to make bone-dry Riesling in California unlike many of the off-dry examples in the marketplace today. I made a mere 400 cases in a small corner of a good friend's boutique winery. Since then, I have added one more Riesling vineyard, as well as two Grüner Veltliner vineyards for a total production of 1,100 cases. I plan to explore the depth of my current sites; and pursue new Central Coast terroirs in the years to come."

SANS LIEGE

THE STORY

"Sans Liege is my relentless search for independence. After many years learning from and working with good friends who have since made their mark as winemakers, I decided it was time to take what I'd gathered with them, and to go my own way...I trust an intuition of the microcosms of each vine and vintage to guide my work in the cellar. Sans Liege sources fruit from Central Coast vineyards that have captured my heart. They speak for me and I for them; the only partners now on this path I tread."

DESPARADA

THE STORY

I arrived at a vineyard in Paso Robles on something of a lark after fleeing Toronto's hustle and sleet. I had nothing but a crazy dog, a tiny camper and a few changes of clothes, and I couldn't have been more delighted. I came following a light I've chased my whole life, but never thought I'd see so close. I've chased that light across North and South America, always grasping, nearly catching hold and watching it dart past. I don't know what it is, I hope I never do, I would hate to get old and boring, but I am certain that it's something in wine and I just have to get a closer look. In my wild chase, I've been everything I could for wine: importer, broker, retailer, cellar rat, harvester, vintner. The moment I set foot in that Paso vineyard, I knew I was closer than I had ever been, I just had to stay and explore. - Vailia Esh, Winemaker

A blend of west coast apples including Golden Delicious, Fuji, Granny Smith, Gala, Gravenstein, Macintosh, Mutsu, Red Delicious, and Pink Lady. Fermented and aged in a combination of French oak barrels, Acacia barrels and stainless steel. The cider was fermented with a combination of beer and wine yeast; English cider yeast, Edinburgh Ale yeast, Champagne yeast, Belgian Saison yeast, white wine yeast, and native cellar yeast. It was aged for 3 months, and then dry hopped with Nelson Sauv, and Cascade to add to the aromatic complexity. This cider is can conditioned to 2.5 atm, it should be served cold and enjoyed from a glass or straight out of the can.

SCAR OF THE SEA

THE STORY

With so much emphasis in today's wine culture on singular elements of winemaking such as alcohol, whole cluster fermentation, or oak regiment; Scar of the Sea strives to shift the pendulum to focus on what is in the glass. The most important part of our wines and cider is where they are grown. Location, climate, and soils matter. These wines and ciders are crafted with minimal manipulation. Balance is achieved through working directly with growers at carefully selected vineyard sites, and the wines ultimately show where they are grown. All the vineyards and orchards are influenced by the sea, with maritime soils, and climates, producing wines and ciders that are unique to the Central Coast of California.
