

Trick or Treat?

easier done than said

Image credit: Steven Depolo (<http://www.flickr.com/photos/stevendepolo/5133674627/>)

This Hallowe'en there is a very good chance that a child that knocks on your door may be experiencing some form of communication difficulty, that can impact their speech, language or social-language skills.

These difficulties can result in children being mistaken for being rude. Help them by treating them as you would any other child and by NOT drawing attention to these potential communication difficulties.

On behalf of the children who cannot communicate for themselves, thank you for your patience this Hallowe'en.