Blessed be the Lord my strength

Andante; vigorous (da ca. 72)

Sempre marcato; detached

Blessed be the Lord my strength, who teacheth my hands to war, O blessed be the Lord my strength, who teacheth my fingers to fight. My defender in whom I trust; my hope, my fortress, and my castle, Blessed be the Lord my strength, who teacheth my hands to war. O blessed be the Lord my strength, who teacheth my fingers to fight.

the people that is under me.
My deliverer, who subdueth
36

meno mosso (d ca. 52)

Lord, what is man, that thou hast such respect to him?
Or the son of man, that thou so regard-est him?

meno mosso (d ca. 52)

Lord, what is man, that thou hast such respect to him?
Or the son of man, that thou so regard-est him?

meno mosso (d ca. 52)

Lord, what is man, that thou hast such respect to him?
Or the son of man, that thou so regard-est him?

meno mosso (d ca. 52)

(For rehearsal only)

Man is but a thing of nought,
his time passeth away like a shadow.
Andante; vigorous (\( \frac{\uparrow}{\uparrow} \) ca. 72)

I will sing a new song, a new song unto thee, O God; and I shall sing thy praises upon a ten-stringed lute.

SAMPLE
Send down thy hand from above and deliver me; take me out of great waters, and from the hand of strangers; whose mouth talketh of vanity, and their waters and from the hand of strangers.
their right hand is a right hand of wickedness.

right hand is a right hand of wickedness.

That our sons may grow

and that our daughters may be as the corners of the temple.

and that our daughters may be as the corners of the temple.

and that our daughters may be as the corners of the temple.
That our garnerers may be full and plentiful with all manner of store; that our sheep may bring forth thousands in our fields, that our oxen may be strong; that there may be full; and plentiful with all manner of store; That our oxen may be strong to labor.
be no more decay, no leading into captivity in our streets.

no leading into captivity, and no complaining in our streets.

no complaining in our streets.

Happy are the people, Happy are the people, yea, blessed are the people that have the

Happy are the people, Happy are the people, yea, blessed are the people that have the

Happy are the people, Happy are the people, yea, blessed are the people that have the

Happy are the people, Happy are the people, yea, blessed are the people that have the Lord for their God.

Blessed be the Lord my strength, who...