

Justin Tran was born in the Palisades neighborhood of Washington, D.C. in 1994. He was raised in nearby Reston, Virginia where he picked up drawing at an early age. Today, he practices illustration and graphic design, both as a business endeavor and as an academic pursuit. He works mostly in digital media, but occasionally incorporates analog-generated elements into his work, which heavily draws inspiration from the geometric and flat, abstract forms of mid-twentieth century design.

He has done design and concept work for clients such as the Visual Arts Center of Richmond, the University of Richmond and French interactive studio We work on Sunday. He currently lives in Richmond, Virginia, where he is actively pursuing a B.F.A. in Communication Arts at Virginia Commonwealth University.
