

Anoush has become a happy home for various interests I've collected over the years: my design background, adventures in pottery, and my fascination with the traditions and arts of other cultures are all put to use making fragrances and functional objects that bring a little exotic ambiance and comfort into everyday life.

My oils, diffusers, lanterns, and other curiosities can be found at Orange.

