

GRAPHIC TEXTILES BY NOMORETWIST

Posted by Jaime Derringer on 07.24.14 in Home Furnishings, Main

Belgian textile studio NoMoreTwist has created a new, 100% made in Belgium, collection of rugs and cushions for 2014 called 'Histoires naturelles.'

The three collections are available in two ranges of vivid colors, and evoke natural beauty inspired by work of engraver Ernst Haeckel, a big name in 18th century naturalist illustration. I love how the abstraction is paired with figurative images to create a harmonious piece of fiber art.

Lepidoptera

The changing surface of Lepidoptera evokes the moiré effect of butterfly wings thanks to a daring fusion of color gradation with superimposed lines. Lepidoptera pastel cushion pictured above.

Silicium

The Silicium motif is created by the layout of faceted micro-structures whose complex architecture alludes to the mineral world of crystals.

Silicium dark green cushion

Volubilis

Designed entirely from circular arcs, Volubilis pays tribute to the hidden geometry of the plant world, the aerial oscillation of twining plant stems.

Volubilis blue & lemon cushion

Volubilis corail cushion

Lepidoptera fluo green cushion

Lepidoptera pastel throw

Photos © Elodie Timmermans.

Jaime Derringer, Founder + Executive Editor of Design Milk, is a Jersey girl living the laid back life in SoCal. She dreams about architectural jewelry + having enough free time to enjoy some of her favorite things—running, reading, and drawing.

You can follow Jaime Derringer on Twitter, Facebook, Instagram, Google. Read all of Jaime Derringer's posts.