5. Explanation of how business activities helped meet key objectives

The principal object of the Foundation is to lead social change that rejects violence and other anti-social behaviour and supports a responsible drinking culture. The Foundation continues to raise community awareness and actively seeks opportunities to contribute to the welfare of the general community, government programs and industry practice.

In pursuing the principal object, the Foundation engages in the following principal activities:

- Provision of Take Kare Safe Space programs in Sydney in both Town Hall and Kings Cross serviced by St John Ambulance;
- raising funds to support the development and expansion of Take Kare ('TK') initiatives including Take Kare Safe Space programs and Take Kare educational programs;
- the development of a research partnership with the University of NSW to evaluate the community benefits of the Take Kare Safe Spaces
- raising community awareness through presentations to various community groups and media platforms
- pursuing improved community support outcomes for victims of violence
- maintaining an interactive social media platform to engage with the youth and general community
- maintain a public fund, the sole purpose of which is to receive all gifts of money or property for the objectives; and
- do all things as are incidental or conducive to the attainment of any or all the objectives.

There were no significant changes in the nature of these principal activities during the year.

6. Measurement of performance

The Foundation engaged in a number of activities in the 2015/2016 financial year that have achieved positive outcomes that have contributed to the pursuit of the principal object. A summary of these activities is listed below:

- From inception to 30 June 2016 Take Kare Safe Space programs supporting nightlife in Sydney assisted 20,829 people to get home safely. The following incident is one example of the numerous interventions by Take Kare Ambassadors (TKAs'). TKAs' were alerted by a member of the public to a woman on George St who appeared extremely intoxicated. A male was standing nearby trying to grab her and take her with him while passing her money. TKAs' intervened and told him to leave or police would be called. They then helped walk the girl away from the man to safety. The woman didn't want to go to the safe space so the team then escorted her to the train station once they were confident that she was capable of getting home safely. (20 May 2016)
- During the final quarter of 2016 the Foundation negotiated with The Salvation Army to move the Take Kare Safe Space programs to St John Ambulance. As a service provider, St John Ambulance provides a better fit with volunteers able to access First Response Training and use this training whilst roving.
- $400,000 raised for the Take Kare Safe Space programs of which $200,000 was paid directly by funding partners to the Salvation Army.

1. Corporate information

Thomas Kelly Youth Foundation Limited is a company limited by guarantee, incorporated and domiciled in Australia. The company was registered by the Australian Charities and Not-for-profit Commission on 17 December 2012. The nature of the operations and principal activities of the company are described in the directors' report.

2. Basis of preparation

(a) Statement of Compliance

These general purpose financial statements have been prepared in accordance with Australian Charities and Not-for-profits Commission (ACNC) Act 2012, Australian Accounting Standards - Reduced Disclosure Requirements, Accounting Interpretations and other authoritative pronouncements of the Australian Accounting Standards Board.

The financial statements were authorised for issue by the Board of Directors on 28 November 2016.

The company is a not-for-profit entity for the purposes of preparing these financial statements.

(b) Basis of measurement

The financial statements are prepared on the historical cost basis. Cost is based on the fair values of the consideration given in exchange for assets.

(c) Functional and presentation currency

The Company financial statements are presented in Australian dollars, which is the Company's functional currency.

(d) Use of estimates and judgements

The preparation of financial statements requires the Directors to make judgements, estimates and assumptions that affect the application of accounting policies and the reported amounts of assets and liabilities, income and expenses. Actual results may differ from these estimates.

The estimates and underlying assumptions are reviewed on an ongoing basis. Revisions to accounting estimates are recognised in the period in which the estimate is revised if the revision affects only that period or in the period of the revision and future periods if the revision affects both current and future periods.

In the current and prior year, management consider that there were no significant judgements or estimation uncertainties encountered in the preparation of the financial statements.

3. Significant accounting policies

(a) Revenue recognition

Revenue is measured at the fair value of consideration received or receivable. Revenue is recognised net of the amounts of goods and services tax (GST) payable to the Australian Taxation Office.

(a) Revenue recognition (continued)

(i) Donations

Donations collected, including cash and goods for resale, are recognised as revenue when the company gains control, economic benefits are probable and the amount of the donation can be measured reliably.

(ii) Legacies

Legacies are recognised when the company is notified of an impending distribution or the legacy is received, whichever occurs earlier.

Revenue from legacies comprising bequests of shares or other property are recognised at fair value, being the market value of the shares or property at the date the company becomes legally entitled to the shares or property.

(iii) Government funding

The company's activities are supported by grants received from the federal, state and local governments. Grants received on the condition that specified services are delivered, or conditions are fulfilled, are considered reciprocal. Such grants are initially recognised as a liability and revenue is recognised as services are performed or conditions fulfilled. Revenue from non-reciprocal grants is recognised when the company obtains control of the funds.

(iv) Interest income

Interest income is brought to account when the company's right to receive payment is established. Interest income is brought to account using the effective interest method.

(v) In-kind donations

Facilities donated for fundraising are included at the fair value to the company where this can be quantified and a third party is bearing the cost. No amounts are included in the financial statements for services donated by volunteers.

(b) Expenditure

All expenditure is accounted for on an accruals basis and has been classified under headings that aggregate all costs related to the category. Where costs cannot be directly attributed to a particular category they have been allocated to activities on a basis consistent with use of the resources. Premises overheads have been allocated on a floor area basis and other overheads have been allocated on the basis of the head count.

Fundraising costs are those incurred in seeking voluntary contributions by donation and do not include costs of disseminating information relating to the activities carried on by the company.

Support costs are those costs directly incurred in supporting the objectives of the company and include project management carried out by central administration, bank fees and travel expenses.

Research grants are amounts granted to institutions in Australia that specialise in research into reducing alcohol-related violence and anti-social behaviour amongst young people in Australia. Grants are recognised when paid to the institution or when there is an obligation to make payment under a contract.

(c) Cash and cash equivalents

Cash and cash equivalents in the balance sheet comprise cash at bank and in hand and short-term deposits with an original maturity of three months or less where the investment is convertible to known amounts of cash and is subject to insignificant risk of changes in value. For the purposes of the cash flow statement, cash and cash equivalents consist of cash and cash equivalents as defined above, net of any outstanding bank overdrafts.

(d) Trade and other receivables

Trade receivables include amounts when the economic right to receive payment is established. Interest is accrued at the reporting date from the time of last payment using the effective interest rate method. Amounts are generally received within 30 days of being recorded as receivables.

Trade receivables are recognised initially at fair value and subsequently measured at amortised cost using the effective interest method, less provision for impairment. Trade receivables are generally due for settlement within 30 days. They are presented as current assets unless collection is not expected for more than 12 months after the reporting date.

(e) Trade and other payables

These amounts represent liabilities for goods and services provided to the group prior to the end of financial year which are unpaid. The amounts are unsecured and are usually paid within 30 days of recognition. Revenues, expenses and assets are recognised net of the amount of GST except where the amount of GST incurred is not recoverable from the Australian Taxation Office, in which case it is recognised as part of the cost of acquisition of an asset or as part of an item of expense.

Receivables and payables are recognised inclusive of GST.

The net amount of GST recoverable from or payable to the Australian Taxation Office is included as part of receivables or payables.

Cash flows are included in the cash flow statement on a gross basis. The GST component of cash flow arising from investing and financing activities that is recoverable from or payable to the Australian Taxation Office is classified as operating cash flow.
