

apply now for the David L. Bucknam Memorial Scholarship

This $2,000 memorial scholarship, established by friends of David Bucknam, honors David's passion for the out-of-doors, learning and living. The Bucknam Memorial Scholarship will provide financial support to a junior or senior undergraduate student majoring in a field related to mine reclamation/restoration such as biology, botany, geography, geology, hydrology, environmental, range or soil science.

Eligibility: Those eligible to apply must be enrolled as full-time students of junior or senior standing for the Fall 2014 semester at an accredited college or university in Colorado. The recipient will demonstrate a love for the out-of-doors, excitement about life-long learning, and an anticipated career devoted to environmental science. Applicants must demonstrate a strong interest in field work and team work. Students with at least an overall GPA of 3.0 may apply. Preference will be given to those students who are pursuing a course of study directly related to reclamation or the environment.

To apply:

- 1) Complete the attached application form, which includes a short Career Objective Essay in which you a) discuss your specific career goals, b) how this scholarship will help you achieve and accomplish those goals, c) describe your decision to major in science/environmental field, and d) any volunteer or community service or other environmental experiences work you have been involved with. The essay has a one page limit—300-400 words.
- 2) A one-page resume. The resume should include, among other things, a list of honors, awards, and scholarships received (if any), a list of extra curricular activities (if any);
- 3) A list of three references with email and phone contact information.

Applications for this year's scholarship are being accepted now.
Deadline is March 14, 2014.
