

How to share screens in MMP studios from an Apple computer +Robert Willey

You may find it helpful to control one of the computers in the MMP studios from your laptop. For example, you could be in one of the Soundhouses operating Pro Tools in the other room.

Step 1) Click on the name of the computer on the network that you want to control. I chose "MMPI_ST2" because I want to control the computer in Studio 2 from Soundhouse C.

Then click on the "Share Screen..." button.

2) The username for all the studios is “student”. The password is the number spelled out of the one you want to use. For example, Studio 2 would be “two” for the password.

Then press “Connect”

3) You should then see the screen of the remote computer on your laptop. Click in the corner and resize as necessary.

4) You should now be able to control the remote computer from your laptop.
