KENDALL SQUARE AREA

In late 2008, the concept of a Kendall Square Association was suggested by a group of like-minded people in Kendall Square who saw an opportunity to improve Kendall Square through the collaboration of the organizations based in Kendall Square. In February 2009, individuals representing approximately 80 organizations with a presence in Kendall Square met and formed the Kendall Square Association to help promote, protect, and improve Kendall Square. The KSA has formed several working committees to address issues relating to development, transportation, retail and restaurant operations, and housing in the Kendall Square area. Additionally, the KSA’s marketing and networking committees coordinate efforts to host informative events for KSA members throughout the year. Authority Executive Director, Joseph F. Tulimieri, was elected to the Board of Directors and as Treasurer.

Review and discussion between the Authority, Boston Properties and the Broad Institute continued regarding the best options for the ground floor retail space at Seven Cambridge Center. The Authority recommended to Broad personnel that the addition of an outside professional museum/exhibit design firm to fully showcase Broad’s efforts and to more fully make proposed exhibits attractive, inviting, and appealing to the broader general public would be beneficial.

OTHER PROJECTS

In January 2009, Alexandria petitioned the City of Cambridge to amend the zoning map and ordinance in the East Cambridge neighborhood along Binney Street. These changes would permit larger scale development along the Binney Street corridor and create an area of continuous open space, as well as to allow for greater heights in some areas of revised Planned Unit Developments. In February 2009, the City Council approved Alexandria’s request to rezone 15.7 acres within the East Cambridge neighborhood to accommodate their lab project. Alexandria's lab project would be built in phases over approximately 10 years.

As part of its restoration of One Broadway, a significant “Gateway” building, the first phase of the “Gateway” project commenced with MIT designing and constructing ground level open space and infrastructure improvements totaling $1-million. The Authority began discussions with MassHighway to determine the amount of state funds which have been authorized for this project. The Authority identified $2.5-million in improvements utilizing state funds. In July 2009, the Authority received notification from the Executive Office of Transportation indicating that the Allocation of FY 2009 Transportation, Community and System Preservation funds is $889,200 for this project.
