FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

Crested Butte Film Festival Gears Up for it's 6th Annual International Film Festival

Crested Butte, Colorado, August 5, 2016: Big-time plans are under way for small-town Crested Butte Film Festival, which is launching their 6th annual festival this September 29th through October 2nd, 2016. Located in the intimate setting of scenic Crested Butte, Colorado, the festival will be screening over 100 world-class films that will inspire, thrill and awaken its audience.

After viewing over 500 films during the past year, festival directors Jen and Michael Brody have created a powerful, distinctive, and artistic program. This years focus on new kinds of storytelling, brings provocative, creative, and visually enthralling motion pictures to the screen. According to Mr. Brody, "Film was reborn in 2016. There are so many exciting, innovative films out there and we are proud to bring them to our festival and share them with our audience."

Passholders and ticket buyers are invited to participate in exclusive events with visiting filmmakers and actors that will produce a unique experience for all. Happening at the height of fall leaf season, Crested Butte welcomes its guests to take in the beauty "both inside and out." Screenings are held at three venues on four screens and will showcase the best in the world documentaries and narratives, as well as shorts, outdoor, adventure and children's films. The inclusion of the actors and filmmakers with the local audience creates an insightful experience in a relaxed environment. The exact film and event schedule will be released September 1st, including verified guest speakers.
