You can talk to us.
We’re Help-4-Hep, and one of our phone counselors is ready to help you meet the challenges of hepatitis C head-on...where to get tested, how to get treatment, or help paying for lab work and medicines. All from someone who’s had hepatitis C touch their own life.

Get to know Help-4-Hep.
Help-4-Hep is a helpline staffed by people who have experience dealing with hepatitis C, either as a patient or as a friend or loved one of someone who’s had hepatitis C.

We can talk with you, one-to-one, about your specific situation.

There for you every step of the way.
We’re here to support you through the entire journey—from deciding to get tested and talking to your doctor about options, to what to do about treatment and finding available resources to help with payment.

In most cases we can help find practical support—including testing locations, treatment clinics, and support groups—in or near your local community, no matter where you live in the United States.

Call whenever you need to.
But guess what? We can call you too! During our conversation, we’ll ask if you want us to follow up on how you’re doing. That’s our commitment...to be there with you every step of the way.

Help-4-Hep... someone you can talk to.
We can explain what hepatitis C is, what the various blood work means and what to ask your doctor. We can also direct you to support services and other resources.

But, more than that, we’re here to listen to your concerns and fears. We know what it’s like to be overwhelmed by dealing with hepatitis C, and understand that there’s more to it than just directions to a testing site or following medical advice.

Get the most important thing of all. Someone to Talk to.
