Plus Size Trend: Casual Dresses

Author: Jen Anderson • Discussion: No Comments

When it comes to dressing casually, you probably think of jeans and t-shirts, or even yoga pants. So comfy. But there's definitely something to be said for wearing dresses on your day off. Not every dress is fancy – some are perfect for running errands. Casual dresses can be more comfortable than pants and they're very flattering to plus size women.

Not convinced? How many jeans have you tried on that only looked good when paired with a tunic or untucked shirt? Jeans aren't flattering if you have to cover them up. A casual dress can work with your body shape and flatter your figure. Pull on a pair of tights and you're good to go all Saturday long.

In The Mix Wrap Dress

Kiyonna's In The Mix Wrap Dress radiates fun. The kaleidoscope mix print gives you modern geometrics in bright spring colors.

It's a classic wrap dress, so you can adjust it to fit you perfectly. It ties just below the bust, creating a universally flattering empire waistline. The full skirt leaves plenty of room for your curves, and will make you want to twirl around.

Raglan Sleeve Fit and Flare Dress

Eloquii's Raglan Fit and Flare Dress can be as casual or as dressy as you like. Pair it with sneakers and a denim jacket, and it's perfect for running errands. Add a blazer and it goes to the office. High heels and delicate jewelry make it ready for date night.

Get it in Oxblood red for a playful splash of color, or in Black for maximum versatility. The notched square neckline keeps this little black (or red) dress from being too basic.

Candice Chiffon Dress

SWAK's Candice Chiffon Dress is the epitome of casual style. The button down top and pleated skirt are a great look for lunch and shopping with friends. Yet it's polished enough to wear to a casual office.

Let the attached belt gently define your waistline, or add a wide belt for a bolder look. Available in black or red print.

Natalia Chiffon Dress

SWAK's Natalia Chiffon Dress is just the thing for your tropical vacation, or a day exploring your town. The ruffles give the flowing fabric even more movement. The spaghetti straps and back keyhole tie make this the perfect thing to throw on over your bathing suit on your way back to the cruise ship after a day at the beach. Or pair it with high heeled sandals for a night out at a beachside bar.

Casual Means Versatile

All of these dresses are great for a trip to the mall, but they can also be dressed up for an evening on the town. Casual dresses can be super flexible that way. They're great for vacation, especially when you want to be ready for anything. That quality is what makes them right for every day.
