Plus Size Dresses For Making an Entrance

Author: Jen Anderson • Discussion: No Comments

Sometimes you just want to look nice attending an event. For a wedding reception, you want an outfit somewhere between looking like you stopped by on the way home from the gym and outshining the bride. You don't want to be the center of attention, but you do want to get compliments on your dress.

And then there are the times when you want all eyes on you. Maybe there's a party in your honor – birthday, engagement, anniversary – and everyone's going to be looking at you. Or maybe you just want to shine, like at your high school reunion. That's when you want a dress that will help you make an entrance. You'll walk in and it will be like there's a spotlight shining right on you.

These are the times you turn to Shavonne Dorsey.

Two Shavonne Dorsey creations are available through Sophisticated Curves and they're both stunning. The Bella Dress features dramatically draped fabric in the front. The shape is perfect for apple shaped women as it is. Hourglass and pear shaped women can try it with a belt for a slightly different look.

The Bella Dress makes such a strong visual impact that you don't need many accessories. Pair it with a great pair of shoes and a bold cocktail ring. Or pile on your biggest, sparkliest jewelry.

The Bella Dress is available in red, green and black.

The Mina Dress also has that wow factor you're looking for. The asymmetrical top, twisted strap and fabric cascading down the back make this dress dramatic enough for the red carpet. The ruching keeps it from being too bodycon while it hugs your curves.

This is the dress you wear when you want to bring out your inner soap opera diva. Invited to your ex's wedding? Wear Mina – looking fabulous will show everyone that you're so over it all that you're overjoyed for the happy couple – even if you're not.

Like Bella, Mina has enough detail that you can wear minimal jewelry. But it can also be the backdrop to some large, eye-catching accessories.

Mina is available in melon, green and black.

Why not make an entrance everywhere?

You're so much fun to be around that everybody is so much happier once you arrive. So dress in a way that reflects that. You deserve to hear people say, "wow," as soon as you walk through the door.
